WOMAN SUFFRAGE OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATED IN NEW YORK, PENNSYLVANIA, MASSACHUSETTS AND PROHIBITION MEETS THE SAME FATE IN OHIO

New Constitution Defeated and Republicans Have Safe Majority in Empire State Legislature; Also Three Congressmen—Gubernatorial Vote in Bay State Close, McCall Leading But Very Slightly.

HARRINGTON HAS INDICATED MAJORITY OF 5,000 IN BALTIMORE FOR GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND

Majority Against Prohibition in Ohio Will be 50,000, is Prediction of Political Leaders—Republicans Gain Two State Senators in New Jersey—Both Sides Claim Victory in Kentucky—Returns Are Slow.

Amendments to the constitutions of the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts to enfranchise women has met with decidedly overwhelming defeat at the hands of the voters, while the amendment to the Ohio constitution for statewide prohibition in that state met a similar fate.

The indicated majorities against suffrage were, at an early hour this morning, as follows:

Massachusetts, 108,000 (returns practically complete).

New York, 205,668 (about two-thirds of the state reported).

Pennsylvania, 150,000 (about one-fifth reported).

In New York state the vote on suffrage from 2,467 districts out of 5,713 in the state gave 241,928 for and 321,418 votes against the measure. The returns undoubtedly indicated also the defeat of the project to adopt a new constitution. The Republicans have a safe majority in the New York general assembly and three Republican congressmen were elected. N. S. Gould in the 36th, B. H. Snell in the 31st and W. S. Bennett in the 23rd district.

In Massachusetts, on the suffrage amendment, the vote from 938 precincts out of 1,140 was 95,077 for and 178,192 against. The election for governor at midnight appeared to be close. Returns from 938 districts out of 1,140 in the state gave McCall, Republican, 183,332, and Walsh, Democrat, 183,075. The missing districts were in sections where McCall was expected to show great strength.

Slow in Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania returns were slow, but the defeat of suffrage was indicated by an overwhelming majority. Early returns in the mayoralty election in Philadelphia indicated the election of Thomas B. Smith, Republican.

The indicated majority for Harrington, Democrat, for governor of Maryland, was five thousand in the city of Baltimore, shortly after 11 P. M. No reports from the Maryland counties had been received.

Ohio political leaders predicted the majority against prohibition would be 50,000. George Puchta, Republican, was elected mayor of Cincinnati.

Detroit, Mich., voting on a plan to purchase the local street railroads, showed from 89 precincts (out of 202) 14,351 votes for and 14,618 against the measure.

In New Jersey the Republicans gained two state senators, which will make the next senate stand 13 Republicans to 8 Democrats. President Wilson went over from Washington to vote at Princeton. The indications pointed to a Republican victory in the next state assembly.

In Kentucky, where a governor is being elected, both Republican and Democratic leaders are claiming victory. The latest returns, however, showed that A. O. Stanley, Democrat, was leading the Republican nominee, E. P. Morrow, by about five thousand.

GOVERNOR WALSH DEFEATED.

McCall, Republican, Elected Governor of Massachusetts.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Samuel W. McCall, Republican, was elected governor, defeating Governor David I. Walsh, Democrat, in a close contest. With thirty election precincts to be heard from, the vote was: McCall 226,920; Walsh 223,729.

The balance of the Republican state ticket was elected and the Republicans made a net gain of 12 seats in the lower branch of the legislature, with no change in the senate.

There seemed to be no doubt that the Republicans had elected the whole state ticket below governor, Calvin Coolidge, the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, was running more than 20,000 votes ahead of former Lieutenant Governor Barry, Democrat.

In the legislature, where the Republicans had a working majority at the last session, they made a decided gain.

The Progressive vote in the state was almost negligible.

William Shaw, the Prohibition nominee for governor, polled one of the largest votes in the history of the party in this state. His vote, about 12,000, was more than twice that of the Progressive candidate. In the city of Boston, where the question of the recall of mayor James M. Curley was on the ballots, returns indicated the probable defeat of the recall movement by a fairly close vote.

TWO TO ONE IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Suffrage Leaders Claim the Victory is Half Achieved.

Boston, Nov. 2.—The defeat of woman suffrage, by a vote of approximately two to one, was indicated by returns from the greater part of the state in the election today. With less than 100 precincts to be heard from, the majority against the proposed constitutional amendment was 108,044.

The suffrage leaders, conceding defeat, declared that they would begin a new campaign immediately. Mrs. Gertrude Halliday Leonard, chairman of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, made the following statement:

"The returns indicate defeat for the suffrage amendment by two to one. This means that we have one out of every three men in Massachusetts who believe in equal suffrage. We have now only to convince one half as many more to complete our majority. We shall start this new campaign on Thursday. We thank the men of Massachusetts who today have shown their confidence in the women of their state."

The anti-suffragists showed overwhelming strength in the cities generally and in the district of Boston.

Mrs. Katherine T. Belch, president of the Massachusetts association opposed to woman suffrage, expressed satisfaction over the outcome. She said that the majority against the amendment was just what she had expected, and pointed to her pre-election estimate of a majority of 100,000.

VOTE LIGHT IN MISSISSIPPI.

Democrats Elect All State, County and District Officers.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 2.—Democratic voters in Mississippi today elected a full set of state, county and district officers on a ticket headed by Theodore G. Bilbo for governor and Lee M. Russell for lieutenant governor. The total vote polled was not expected to reach 20,000. The only opposition to the Democratic candidates came from the Socialist party ticket headed by John T. Lester for governor and F. T. Maxwell for lieutenant governor.

STANLEY LEADS IN KENTUCKY.

Both Parties, However, Are Still Claiming Victory at Polls.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 2.—Unofficial returns from 60 counties out of 119, for governor give former Congressman A. O. Stanley, Democrat, 65,204; Edwin P. Morrow, Republican, 59,555.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders are claiming victory, the Republicans by 20,000 majority and the Democrats by 15,000. Heavy losses have been sustained by the Democratic ticket in many sections as compared with the McCreary-O'Rear race in 1911.

DEFEAT IN PENNSY STAGGERING.

Can't Vote on Suffrage Again Within Five Years—Overlooked by Some.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The attempt to give women the right to vote met with staggering defeat in Pennsylvania today. How badly the little band of women who bravely campaigned the state and appealed for equal rights at the polls were beaten will not be known until the slow work of counting the votes is completed.

Claims of the antis place the majority against suffrage as high as a quarter of a million. In the state the vote in many sections was about even while

NOT PREPARED FOR WAR SAYS BEATTY

Will Not be in Many Years at Present Rate, He Says.

WOULD ISSUE BONDS

Addressing Norfolk Rotary Club, the Admiral Advocates Bond Issue to Pay for Ships as Fast as Can be Built.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 2. — Speaking before the Norfolk Rotary Club today, Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, declared the United States was not prepared for war and could not be made so for many years to come at the present rate of naval development. He voiced a sentiment in favor of preparedness which he admitted was at odds with the administration and which he believed was the only course open to the United States if it is to successfully combat any world power with which theye is any likelihood of war.

"I believe in naval preparedness," said the admiral, "If it takes $500,000,000 to insure it. I believe that Congress should vest the President with authority to issue bonds to insure naval construction as fast as ships can be built. The need for preparedness is now, when we know that we are not in position to meet some of the world powers better equipped with naval offensive than we are with naval defensive."

Building Should be Rushed.

The admiral said that he shared only the view of other naval officers when he felt that the government's naval policy should be one that would build ships now just as fast as shipyards and government plants could turn them out until the defensive strength was sufficient to maintain a first line of resistance and prevent a landing of enemy forces at coast points which must be vulnerable without that essential first line.

Should Congress authorize the President to spend money for the navy, as fast as dreadnaughts could be constructed and it became necessary to issue bonds for the purpose in the sum of $500,000,000, the admiral pointed out that 3 per cent of that would mean a yearly outlay of $15,000,000, which the country could easily shoulder when the great and positively necessary result is taken into consideration.

Tells of War Game

The admiral reviewed briefly his recent operations as commander of the "Red" or enemy fleet in the May war game which was decided in his favor after he had affected a successful land-

SERBIAN POSITION MORE PRECARIOUS

May Resist, However, Until Promised Help Arrives.

NOTHING DOING WEST

At Least Three Big Battles in Progress in East, Both Sides Claiming the Advantage—Asquith the Center of Attention.

London, Nov. 2. — Premier Asquith's speech in the house of commons today on the policy and plans of Great Britain, concerning which he did not disclose much more than already was known, monopolizes the attention of Europe tonight, and the fighting, although it has been severe on some of the fronts, is receiving little thought.

The Austro-Germans and Bulgarians continue their advance in Serbia and are daily drawing closer to Nish, making the position of the Serbian army in the north more precarious. It is believed here, however, that the Serbians will be able to withdraw to the mountains and resist the invaders until the assistance which the Entente Allies have promised draws some of the pressure from them.

The British and French troops which were landed at Saloniki already are doing this in the south, and news of a Russian contingent, which is variously reported as having landed at Varna or to be approaching Bulgaria through Rumania, is anxiously awaited.

On the western front except for some fighting in Champagne, there is little or nothing doing, but on the eastern front at least three or four big battles are in progress.

The Germans continue their efforts to approach Riga from the west, the Russians are attacking west of Dvinsk, and among the lakes south of that city, while attacks and counter attacks are almost continuous on the Styr river in Volhynia, and along the Stripa in Galicia. Both sides are claiming the advantage.

The offensive of the Italians against the Austrians also continues, although Vienna reports that it is meeting with no success.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 2.—Henry Gaillard Smart, who recently won control of his dead wife's estate said to be worth $3,000,000, after a sensational will contest in the courts of Hawaii, died here today from cerebro spinal meningitis. His baby son and heir is in Hawaii with his grandmother, Mrs. Edward S. Knight.

LABOR CONVENTION IS COMING TO WILMINGTON

State Federation Adopts Number of Resolutions.

Woman Suffrage Endorsed by One Majority After Lively Discussion. Wants Greater Navy and Free Text Books.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 2.—The State Federation of Labor selected Wilmington as the next place of meeting, reelected the officers who served last year, had a lively time over the adoption of resolutions and adjourned this afternoon. A resolution endorsing equal suffrage had been introduced and unfavorably reported by the committee on resolutions. In this way the fight came up on the floor of the convention with the majority influence of the resolutions committee against it, but even with this handicap the resolution was adopted by one majority.

The Federation cut out any endorsement by resolution of the proposition to increase the standing army, but voted for a greater navy and for all battleships to be built in government ship yards.

Other resolutions declared for free text books for the public schools; against allowing labor union organizers from other states coming into this state to organize or in any way interfere with affairs of the labor unions in this State; inviting the State Farmers' Alliance to send delegates to the next annual Federation convention and affiliate regularly with the Federation, including the sending of delegates to the Wilmington convention next year, and calling upon the next Legislature to provide for the examiation and licensing of plumbers.

Seven of the local Farmers' Alliance organizations have already endorsed the move for affiliation with the Federation.

Labor leaders say the Federation membership is now around 30,000. All the cities and towns of the State that are of any size much were represented in the convention just closed, except Winston-Salem, Charlotte and Newbern.

DARIO RESTA MAKES A NEW AMERICAN RECORD

For 100 Miles Averages 105.39 Miles an Hour.

Wins 100-Mile Automobile Race for Harkness Gold Challenge and $5,000 in Cash at Sheepshead Bay Speedway.

New York, Nov. 2.—Dario Resta won the 100-mile automobile race for the Harkness gold challenge cup and $5,000 in cash at the Sheepshead Bay speedway track today. His time for the distance, 56:55.71, establishes a new American record and an average of 105.39 miles an hour. The Brookland, Eng., world's record for 100 miles is 56:29.93. Resta also beat the Chicago record of 58:54, which he made himself.

Bob Burman finished second in 59:33.59, and Edward Rickenbacker was third in 61:00.49. Six cars started by John Aitken was forced out of the race, after leading for the first ten miles, by a broken connecting rod. Ralph DePalma's car met with a similar mishap after going 40 miles.

Ralph Mulford, the other driver might have been second if not the actual winner, had he not been compelled to go to the pig five times during the race because of flat tires.

NEW EXPEDITION TO BALKANS

British and French Transports With Troops Appear Off Greece

Amsterdam, Nov. 2, (via London.—A new Anglo-French expedition to the Balkans is announced by the Berlin Tageblatt. This newspaper publishes a telegram from Sofia stating that British and French transports with troops have appeared off Kavala, Greece.

Kavala is the nearest Greek port to the Gallipoli peninsula, and might be selected as the landing place in case French and British troops were withdrawn from the peninsula for service against Bulgaria. A Berlin dispatch yesterday said troops now on the Serbian front, brought in by way of Saloniki, had been sent from the peninsula.

VILLA BOMBARDING CALLES' GARRISON INTERMITTENTLY

Expected to Make Another Attempt Today to Storm Carranza Stronghold.

PRIVATE JONES DEAD

General Funston Makes Further Preparation to Protect United States Territory.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 2.—After a day of comparative quiet, following repeated fighting during last night, the Villa army before Agua Prieta late today bombarded General Calles' garrison for a brief period. This at first was believed to be preparatory to a fifth assault upon the Carranza stronghold, but developments early tonight indicated that General Villa had decided to wait until tomorrow before making another attempt to storm the city.

Two American soldiers were wounded today by Mexican bullets, while Major General Funston, who arrived and assumed command in Douglas today, and Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Davis, were endangered by stray bullets while on a tour of inspection of the United States army border line.

Private Harry Jones, of Company C, 11th United States infantry, who was shot in the stomach while on patrol duty yesterday, died today from his wound. The condition of Louis F. Taylor, a citizen who was shot in the spine while observing the fighting from the United States custom house, was said tonight to be critical.

Apprehension Caused.

Three hours before the Villa bombardment began this evening, Major General Funston removed the American troops from their trenches on the international boundary. This move, coupled with reports that Villa intended shelling Douglas and the General Funston was preparing to interfere in Mexico, caused apprehension.

It was stated, however, that no movement was contemplated against the fighting Mexican factions unless either was guilty of an overt attempt to endanger American lives and property.

Many women, whose homes were shattered with bullets during the firing around Agua Prieta last night, left the city. General Funston ordered all civilians kept out of a zone within range of the boundary, while houses on exposed places facing the boundary line were cleared of occupants.

More Cavalry Arrive.

Infantry battalions were shifted to strengthen the United States army position facing the Mexican battlefield. Four troops of cavalry ordered from Naco, Ariz., arrived this evening. Three other troops of the 13th cavalry have been ordered from Columbus, N. M., to further reinforce the American mounted troops.

Ammunition and reinforcements from the east for the Villa army, which were looked for shortly after noon, were reported coming through Gallardo Pass late today. General Villa made every effort to provide provisions and water for his thirsty and half starved men and he apparently had succeeded this afternoon. The water supply at Gallardo ranch, destroyed two weeks ago by General Calles' men, was restored and a large supply of flour from some source reached his line. Villa distributed provisions to his men tonight.

Little Real Damage Done.

The damage thus far done to Agua Prieta appeared to observers on the American side to be confined to two half shattered windmills, a few obliterated adobe houses in which a number of women and children camp followers were killed, and to torn places in the wire entanglements where Villa's Yaquis attempted to storm the town last night.

Losses of the Carranza forces in last night's fighting were reported by General Calles at 45 killed and 75 wounded, although unofficial reports stated his casualties were 250. Villa dead and wounded in large numbers were scattered over the desert outside the barbed wire entanglements surrounding the Mexican town.

American army officers who witnessed last night's fighting pronounced the firing between 3 and 6 o'clock this morning the most violent they ever heard. Villa opened on the western trenches at Agua Prieta with every gun available in support of a final rush by Yaqui Indians. Calles replied with every weapon in his garrison and Douglas trembled under the vibrations.

NO ADDITIONAL ORDERS.

General Funston to Use His Own Judgment, But Not Cross Line.

Washington, Nov. 2. — War Department officials conferred over General Funston's reports on the situation at Douglas, but no additional orders were sent to him. He will construe his instructions about returning fire into American territory according to his own judgment, but under no circumstances will he cross the border without special authority.

Rome, Nov. 2.—Information given out at the vatican today is that Monsignor Marchetto, papal delegate to Switzerland, was sent by the vatican to Switzerland merely to arrange for an exchange of prisoners and civilians between the two groups of belligerents and had no mission concerning peace.

MONEY SITUATION IN GREAT BRITAIN NOW IS DECLARED SERIOUS

WHITLOCK REVIEWS THE CAVELL CASE

Says Germans Seem Satisfied With His Explanation.

HAS BEEN EMBARRASSED

American Minister to Belgium Sends Lengthy Statement to Washington—U. S. Officials Consider Matter Closed.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, has transmitted a lengthy report to the United States government reviewing steps taken by him and members of his staff in connection with the execution by the German military authorities of Miss Edith Cavell. The minister declares reports made by him on the subject constituted merely a recital of facts without expression of opinion and that he had submitted them to Ambassador Page at London for his information, but not for publication. In the natural course, the ambassador, reporting on the care of British subjects by American diplomatic officers, transmitted the documents to the British foreign office, which made them public.

Publication of the letter, Mr. Whitlock says, greatly embarrassed him in Brussels with the German authorities, although he adds that the latter now seem satisfied with his explanation and there is no indication of further difficulty.

Referring to reports from London, that there was evidence of bad faith on the part of German authorities before the execution of Miss Cavell took place, the minister says the legation officially received no pledge or promise that it would be kept informed of the disposition of the case. There were no conversations of a diplomatic character, he explains, the only remarks on the subject passing between an employe of the legation and a subordinate German official.

With the exception of the plea for mercy which Mr. Whitlock himself addressed to the German military governor, after Miss Cavell confessed her guilt of aiding allied soldiers to escape from Belgium, there was no step taken by the American legation in which the German authorities showed any discourtesy.

Consider Incident Closed.

Officials here look upon the incident as closed. They do not believe Mr. Whitlock's usefulness in Belgium will be impaired, although they realize he has been placed in an uncomfortable position.

NOW FOR SETTLEMENT OF LUSITANIA AFFAIR

"Informal Conversations" is the Plan Adopted.

Lansing and Bernstorff Take Up Subject at Conference—"Formal Notes" to be Tabooed in Effort to Solve Problem.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Lansing had their first conversation today since the settlement of the Arabic case and took under consideration the questions growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania last May with the loss of more than 100 American lives.

The plan of reaching an agreement without the exchange of formal notes but by formal conversations worked so well in the handling of the Arabic case that it is now to be followed in endeavoring to solve the Lusitania problem. There is no disposition at the State Department to hasten a settlement but to give every opportunity for a full and frank exchange of views. Originally the American government demanded a disavowal of the act, reparation and assurances that the incident would not be repeated. The last is considered to have been disposed of through the published instructions to German submarine commanders not to torpedo ships without warning. The question of disavowal is beset with many complexities, since the commander acted under instructions existing at the time. That Germany will give reparation desired in the form of indemnity is considered not unlikely.

Geneva, via Paris, Nov. 2.—The Swiss press is commenting extensively on the visit of Prince von Buelow in Switzerland. Although it is stated that the prince has come to Switzerland merely for a holiday, the Basel Nachrichten asserts he is accompanied by two high officials of the German foreign office.

Asquith Says Greater Sacrifices Must be Made to Sustain the Burdens.

BUT PREDICTS TRIUMPH

Asserts Germans Have Not Made Net Gain of a Foot of Ground Since April.

War to be Conducted by Small Cabinet Committee.

London, Nov. 2. — The prime minister, Mr. Asquith, in the house of commons today delivered before the largest assembly of the year his widely heralded and much discussed statement on the progress of the war. The premier's speech was a characteristic one. His most important declaration was that the war will be conducted by a cabinet committee of from three to five members, which will consult with the full cabinet on questions of the most serious nature.

It is taken for granted that Premier Asquith, Lord Kitchener, secretary for war, and A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, will be members of this council. The plan was expected and seems in the nature of a compromise to meet the criticism that a cabinet of 22 members is unwieldy.

With respect to the Dardanelles, the premier insisted upon taking his full share of the responsibility. These operations, he said, were designed to influence the Balkan situation, open the way for supplies for the Russians and strike a blow at the heart of the Turkish empire. The allied forces at the Dardanelles, Mr. Asquith pointed out, were holding up 200,000 Turks. But he gave no indication of what the future policy would be on this important section of the war front.

Sir Edward Carson Speaks.

Sir Edward Carson, the former attorney general, was listened to with almost as great attention as was Mr. Asquith, with the expectation that he would throw more light on the reasons for his resignation. Those who awaited his explanation were not disappointed.

Sir Edward declared that the cabinet's slowness in deciding upon the policy of aiding Serbia was the main reason for his disagreement. He asserted that the country was anxious to know whether it resources of men and materials were being used to the best advantage. He described the cabinet as a machine utterly uncapable of carrying on a war. He questioned whether the government was justified in embarking upon the Dardanelles expenditions and spoke of the failure at Suvla bay as the most disastrous of the war.

Asquith Reiterates Confidence

Premier Asquith, in his long-expected address on the war in the house of commons today, reiterated his confidence that the Allies were going to carry the war to a triumphant issue but warned the country that the nation's financial situation was serious and that greater sacrifices must be made to sustain the burdens imposed by the struggle.

The premier declared Sir John French now commanded nearly one million men in France, and that the situation in the Dardanelles was receiving the most anxious consideration of the government, not as an isolated thing, but as a part of the larger strategical question raised by reason of developments in the Balkans.

Great Britain and France, he said, were in the full agreement not to let Serbia "become the prey of the sinister and nefarious combination of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria."

Compulsion Unnecessary.

Mr. Asquth said he strongly believed the recruiting plan of the Earl of Derby would make compulsion unnecessary. Announcement was made by the premier that former Premier Venizelos, of Greece, on September 21 had asked France and Great Britan for 150,000 men with the express understanding that Greece would mobilize.

Mr. Asquith said he strongly believed in France and Flanders amounted to 377,000. He asserted the Germans had not made a net gain of a fot of ground since April.

Reviewing the work of the British submarines in the Turkish campaign, the premier said that in the sea of Marmora they had sunk or damaged two battleships, five gunboats, one torpedo boat, eight transports and 197 supply ships.

Failure at Dardanelles

The premier accepted his full share of responsibility for the first attack on the Dardanelles which resulted in failure, with the loss of several capital ships. He said this attack was made after full investigation and consultation with naval experts and that it was sanctioned by the government notwithstanding some doubts in the mind of the government's principal naval adviser.

"It is true that today some parts of the horizon are overcast,' 'he continued. "This, like other wars, has been fruitful of surprises and disappointments. The moment calls for three things: A proper rense of perspective, a limitless stock of patience, and overflowing reservoirs of courage, both active and passive."

Mr. Asquith referred to the "small coterie of professional whimperers which kept our enemies supplied daily with a diet of falsehoods." The government, he said, had no interest in concealing anything, subject to the one overriding consideration that its dis-

GERMAN NATION'S FOOD SUPPLY IS NO PROBLEM

Berlin Denies Reports From "Enemy Countries."

No Necessity for Convening of the Reichstag for Discussion of Food Supply Question, the Government Declares.

Berlin, Nov. 2. (by wireless to Sayville)—The question of Germany's food supply is not giving the nation any worriment, notwithstanding statements to the contrary from sources hostile to Germany, the Overseas News Agency declared today:

"The press in enemy countries," says the news agency, "has recently printed additional reports regarding an alleged scarcity of food in Germany. All such reports are incorrect and Germany's enemies are doomed once more to disappointment, since the feeding of the German nation is as completely assured now as it has been during the preceding months of the war."

"There is no necessity for the convening of the Reichstag for discussion of the food supply question, as has been asked by the socialist party at the instigation of its radical wing. Large sections of the socialists agree with the majority of the population that the plan of organization now mapped out by the administration will provide sufficiently for the feeding of the nation in a way that will keep the population healthy and vigorous and that the government, therefore, is right in declining to call the Reichstag together again."

MONEY SITUATION IN GREAT BRITAIN AT SERIOUS STAGE

closure would not assist Great Britain's enemies.

French Commands 1,000,000 Men

"How do we stand today?" asked the premier. "In August of last year, we were prepared to send abroad six infantry and two cavalry divisions. In the operations described in Field Marshal French's dispatch he had under his command not far short of a million men. To these must be added the troops at the Dardanelles, in Egypt, and in other theatres of war, as well as our garrisons and troops in reserve.

"How has this gigantic force been got together, by a power which has never aspired to be a military power? First, by the manhood of the United Kingdom. In the last 15 months we have recruited ———."

Mr. Asquith hesitated, then remarked:

"I don't like to give the exact figure ——— of men.

What the Navy Has Done.

"There never has been anything comparable in the history to the service of the navy," he said. "There they are—the men of the grand fleet, living unnoticed, unadvertised, performing with efficiency and vigilance which cannot be described but which has cleared the whole high seas from one end to the other of German warships and mercantile marine. Where is the great German fleet upon which so much money was spent? Locked up in the Baltic. It dare not show its face in waters where it can be attacked. The whole maritime resources of Germany have been reduced to sporadic and constantly diminishing efforts of submarines."

As to Mesopotamia, Mr. Asquith reiterated that the British object was to reserve the neutrality of the Arabs, safeguard British interests in the Persina gulf and uphold the authority of the Union Jack in the east.

"Our victorious force is now within measurable distance of Bagdad," he continued. "No operations have been conducted with more brilliancy or with better prospects of final success."

Turning to the operations in the Dardanelles, Mr. Asquith said:

"From the moment Turkey declared war it was impossible to concentrate attention solely on the western front. The Turks threatened our Russian allies and Egypt. The advent of Turkey produced a great effect on the Balkan states and the government had to face a question which was not merely strategic.

"In a great war like this you can determine the policy entirely by naval and military considerations. Sometimes it is not only expedient but necessary to run risks which clear naval or military considerations would have warned you against. In January we had not sufficient military forces available in the east to do more than cope with the Turkish attack on Egypt, which was defeated. The question of a naval attack on the Dardanelles was then considered and after full consultation, with naval experts including the admiral on the spot—nothwithstanding some doubts in the mind of Baron Fisher (then first sea loard)—the government felt justified in sanctioning that attack.

Carefully Considered

"The proposed attack was carefully considered. It was approved by the French and enthusiastically received by the Grand Duke. It was decided at first to make the attempt with the navy and the navy alone. I take my full share of responsibility and depreciate attempts to allot the responsibility to one minister or another."

Mr. Asquith pointed out that if the efforts to force the Dardanelles had been successful they would have been of immeasurable value.

"They did not succeed," he continued, "notwithstanding the magnificent exhibition and never surpassed gallantry of our troops."

The premier traveled over old ground in rehearsing the unsuccessful efforts to promote Balkan community, pointing out that every step had to be taken in consultation with three and, latterly, four governments.

Unlike German Government.

"Unlike the German government," he said, "we cannot barter away the property of our allies behind their backs. When the Allies are reproached for not acting with sufficient speed as regards Serbia, it must be remembered that up to the last moment there was the strongest reason to believe that Greece would act up to her treaty obligations with Serbia. On September 21 after the Bulgarian mobilization had begun Premier Venizelos asked France and Great Britain for 150,000 men on the expression understanding that the Greeks would mobilize also. Greece did mobilize on the 24th of September, but not until the 6th of October did Premier Venizelos find himself able to agree to the landing of British and French troops under formal protest.

"On the fourth of October, M. Venizelos announced in the chamber that Greece must be bound by her treaty with Serbia."

Had to Help Serbia.

"The next day the King repudiated the declaration of M. Venizelos, who resigned, but the new Greek government declared its desire to remain on friendly terms with the Allies, at the same time declining to depart from the attitude of neutrality. The result was that Serbia without Greek support was left to bear a central attack and a side attack from Bulgaria.

"We in the United Kingdom, France and Russia, could not allow Serbia to become the prey to this sinister, mysterious combination. The general staffs of France and Great Britain have been in the closest consultation which culminated in the welcome visit of the illustrious French commander-in-chief. The result, I am glad to say, is a complete agreement between us as to the end and the means, but I can disclose nothing more. Serbia may rest assured that her independence is regarded by us as one of the essential objects of the war."

Dealing with the financial aspects of the situation, Premier Asquith laid stress upon the importance of retrenchment.

As to Recruiting.

As to recruiting Mr. Asquith said: "Admittedly our system of voluntary recruiting operates in a haphazard, capricious way. My objection to compulsion is that it would endanger the maintenance of national unity. If you apply compulsion without general assent you defeat your purpose."

Referring to Lord Derby's recruiting scheme, the premier promised to inform the country as soon after November 30 as it was possible to collect information whether it was successful.

"I believe," he continued, "it will produce a satisfactory result, but if it does not and it is shown that in the fruitful reservoir there are numbers of men of military ages who still hang back, compulsion shall be made effective."

The premier stated he had concluded that it was desirable to maintain the cabinet war committee concerned with the higher direction of the war, but to limit its membership.

The premier stated that there also in future would be more co-ordination between the staffs of the allied powers.

Touching upon the question of supplies of men, munitions and money, the premier said that the financial position was serious. He quoted statistics of exports and imports and of expenditure upon the war.

Greater Sacrifices Necessary.

"The standard of life in Germany has been depressed to a very low point indeed, but we must be prepared to make far greater sacrifices than we have done," he said.

Reviewing his own share in the taking of the decision of August last year, Premier Asquith declared:

"There is nothing I wish to unsay or undo. I challenge criticism. I am as confident now as 15 months ago that we are going to carry our righteous cause to a triumphant conclusion. I am not going to shelve the burden laid on my shoulders until I am satisfied I can no longer bear the burden. As long as I enjoy health and the confidence of my sovereign, the house and the country, I will not surrender the task, heavy though it be."

Premier Asquith's closing words were "Let us endure to the end."

Grave Peril Says Carson.

Sir Edward Carson, who recently resigned from the office of attorney general, initiated discussions on Mr. Asquith's statements.

The present position, he declared, was one of grave peril. There was nothing to be gained by minimizing the danger.

"We have had an ever widening theatre of war," he said, "which in the east is threatening the very vitals of our empire. What the house and country are really anxious about is whether our resources in men and material are being used to the best advantage, whether what have appeared to be grave miscalculations could have been avoided, and, above all, whether the machinery of the government for carrying on the war is the most adequate and most effective which we can devise."

Sir Edward referred to the recent absence of munitions, because, he said, experience had shown him that the cabinet, however useful in time of peace, was an organization utterly incapable of carrying on the war under present conditions. What was wanted was a smaller number of competent men sitting daily with the best advisers they could get to work out the problems that arose.

The Balkan "Blunder."

Perhaps the gravest instance of how the cabinet and government worked, he said, was to be found in the Balkan situation. Nothing had astonished him more than the gyrations they had gone through in relation to British policy in the Balkans. On September 28, Sir Edward Grey stated that Bulgarian mobilization had resulted in Bulgaria assuming an aggressive attitude on the side of Great Britain's enemies and that Great Britain should be prepared to give its friends in the Balkans all the support in its power in a manner most welcome to them.

When he learned that this was no longer the policy of the government and that there were no plans to this end, he severed his connection with the cabinet.

Sir Edward said he decided to resign as he could not support the conclusion reached by the war counsel of the cabinet the day before. He quoted Sid Edward Grey's statement made in the house on September 28, promising the Allies' support to Serbia, and read part of his letter to the premier:

"I cannot understand how England can abandon Serbia to her fate without national dishonor. Even if we are not so bound in honor, such a course would, in my judgment, be the policy of despair and an admission of failure which could only be justified after every other alternative has been abandoned.

"The loss of our prestige will be incalculable and a vrey grave menace to our eastern empire."

The former attorney general told Mr. Asquith that he was quite aware of the difficulties suggested by the general staff, but that he felt confident that if troops were concentrated at Saloniki and the naval power used it would demonstrate that England had resolved to preserve their country for the Serbians.

CAN'T STAND GALLIPOLI

More Than 75,000 Troops Removed on Account of Sickness.

London, Nov. 2.—That stores of excessive sickness among the troops on the Gallipoli peninsula had not been overdrawn was revealed today in the house of commons by Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under secretary of war, who informed the house that approximately 78,000 officers and men had been removed from the peninsula on account of sickness between April 25 and October 20.

ELECTION BULLETINS

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Hiram H. Edgerton, Republican, was re-elected mayor of Rochester by plurality of more than 10,000.

Cincinnati, Nov. 2.—George Puchta, Republican, was elected mayor of Cincinnati by a plurality of about 18,000.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Woman suffrage was defeated at the state election today by a majority estimated on approximately three-fourths of the vote, not including Boston, at about 83,000.

New York, Nov 2.—The defeat of the suffrage amendment by a majority of 200,000 was predicted and the defeat of the revised constitution conceded at the Republican state headquarters shortly after 10 o'clock tonight.

New York, Nov. 2.—Returns on woman suffrage from 1,232 districts out of 5,713 in the state give 124,706 for and 155,232 against.

Boston, Nov. 2.—With 39 precincts missing, the returns from today's election gave for governor: McCall, Republican, 224,674; Walsh, Democrat, 221,787.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Returns from 941 precincts out of 1,140 in the state, and including more than half of the city of Boston, gave for woman suffrage: Yes, 86,282; No. 158,353.

Baltimore, Nov. 2.—Twelve precincts out of 316 in Baltimore city give for governor: Harrington, Democrat, 1,161; Weiler, Republican. 1.283. Indicated majority of 5,000 for Harrington in Baltimore city. No reports from counties up to 11 o'clock tonight.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Thirty-three election districts out of 1,232 in Philadelphia cast 3,852 votes against the suffrage amendment and 350 for it. This ratio of ten to one is not maintained in the state, but scattered returns show the vote was against the proposed amendment.

Boston, Nov. 2.—With 75 per cent of the vote tabulated for governor, Walsh had a lead of approximately 4,500. The 25 per cent not tabulated at 9 o'clock is all outside of Boston ,in districts where McCall has shown the greatest strength.

New York, Nov. 2.—Returns from approximately one-third of the election districts outside of New York City indicated the defeat of the suffrage amendment by about 87,000 in the upstate districts. The count of the vote in New York City was much delayed.

New York, Nov. 2.—Returns from 18 of the larger cities in the state show 12 Republicans, five Democrats and one Socialist mayors elected. George R. Lunn, former mayor of Schenectady, is the Socialist. Buffalo selected two Republicans and two Democratic city commissioners, making effective the commission form of government adopted a year ago.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Returns from about one-fifth of the State indicate the defeat of the suffrage amendment by 125,000 to 150,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Dr. H. W. Temple, Republican, is elected to Congress from the 24th district of Pennsylvania.

BUILDERS OF U-BOAT AGREED TO MAKE GOOD

Promised Little to Stand Back of Any Defects Developed.

Evidence of Verbal Agreement Made by Company Features Day in Trial of Rear Admiral For Carelessness as Inspector

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—A conversation in which Rear Admiral William N. Little, retired, refused to accept the batteries of the submarine K-2 until her builders had agreed to make good any defects that might develop, was described at today's session of the court martial of the rear admiral on charfes of neglect and careless methods as inspection officer.

Lieutenant Warren G. Childs, assistant inspector of machinery at the Fore River ship yards while the submarine was under construction, said that Admiral Little called the attention of S. A. Gardner, of the Electric Boat Company, to conditions that might arise from the presence of lead drops in the battery.

Gardner, Lieutenant Childs said, agreed to stand back of the battery so far as damage from lead drops was concerned. To this Admiral Little replied, according to the witness, that he must have the company's word for such an agreement, and this was secured by telephone.

Admiral Little declared, according to Childs, that he had no fear that there was anything serious the matter with the battery. Under cross examination, Lieutenant Childs said that in his opinion the battery was in excellent condition when accepted.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to a technical discussion.

A telegram was received from Secretary Daniels, upholding the activities of Lieutenant W. B. Woodson, assistant to Lieutenant Commander Alfred W. Johnson, judge advocate. The court, during the morning, had sustained an objection of the defense to the prominent part taken in the proceedings by Lieutenant Woodson, but reversed its stand upon the receipt of the message of Secretary Daniels.

ATTEMPT AT INCENDIARISM.

Midnight Marauders Set Fire to House of Magnolia Colored Man.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Magnolia, N. C., Nov. 2.—Preston J. Vann, a hard-working, reliable colored man, who lives in the southern edge of this place, came near losing his house by fire last night a little after midnight. Some person or persons piled several armfuls of boards and other inflammable material at one corner of the dining room and set fire to it while Vann and his wife and several children were asleep in the house. Fortunately Frank Best came along and discovered the fire before the flames had spread to any considerable extent and they were extinguished. Mr. J. H. King was summoned and came down from Warsaw this morning with his two bloodhounds and they struck a trail at the corner of the house where the fire started and ran it to the railroad, but it was so dry and dusty and so many people had passed in the meantime that the dogs could not follow further. By tracks left in the soft earth and from other clues, the authorities have pretty good circumstantial evidence as to the identity of the guilty party and arrests may follow at any time.

SUNK AT GIBRALTAR

British Torpedo Boat Destroyed as Result of Collision

London, Nov. 2.—The British admiralty this afternoon announced that the British torpedo boat No. 96 was sunk at Gibraltar yesterday after being in a collision.

"Torpedo boat No. 96 Chief Gunner John D. Sumner, R. N.," says the official statement, "was sunk yesterday in the straits of Gibraltar after a collision with a mercantile fleet auxiliary. Two officers and nine men are reported as missing and it is feared they were drowned."

FREE RANGERS WILL CARRY.

Stock Law Election in Pender County Yesterday—Returns Last Night.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., Nov. 2.—From indications early this evening the free rangers will carry the county by a big majority in the stock law election held here today. Burgaw township itself will be very close and Caswell will give a majority for stock law but the rest of the county is likely to go free range by pretty large majorities. It is estimated that the majority against the stock law will be 650 in the entire county.

TOBACCO GROWERS COMPLAIN.

Says Great Britain is Blocking Export of the Leaf.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Virginia and Tennessee tobacco growers complained to Secretary Lansing today that because of restrictions of the British government practically all of the 1914 tobacco crop and much of the 1913 crop still are in warehouses. They asked that special representations be made to Great Britain to permit the free and unrestricted movement of tobacco from the United States to neutral ports.

Secretary Lansing promised to take the matter under consideration.

TURQUOISE NOT SUNK.

Turks Save French Submarine and Expect to Use It Themselves.

Berlin, Nov. 2. (by wireless to Sayville)—According to the Overseas News Agency the Turks captured the French submarine Turquoise nearly intact and probably will utilize the vessel themselves.

A dispatch from Berlin Monday said the Turquoise had been sunk by Turkish artillery fire and that he entire crew were taken prisoners.

WIVES AND MOTHERS

Have you ever stopped to realize how much the health of your family depends upon you? For instance, diet is a great factor in health, and you are responsible for it, then again when any member of your family gets into a run-down condition, when the children are delicate, cross and ailing, when somebody takes cold and develops a cough, they look to you for help. Do you know that our local druggist, Robert R. Bellamy, has a non-secret constitutional remedy known as Vinol which he guarantees for just such conditions. Many families in this vicinity have found it so reliable they are never without it.

CHIEF OF AVIATION CORPS ON WITNESS STAND YESTERDAY

At the Court Martial Trial of Lieut. Colonel Goodier.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—Lieut. Col. Samuel Reber, chief of the aviation section of the United States Army, was a witness today at the court martial of Lieutenant Colonel Goodier, judge advocate of the western division, on charges of having incited officers at the army aviation senool at San Diego to make charges against their superiors.

Lieutenant Colonel Reber had been summoned from Washington to explain certain letters which he had written Capt. Arthur S. Cowan at San Diego, but his testimony was not confined to those letters. Animosities in the case developed. Lieutenant Colonel Reber testified that Capt. Dennis P. Quinlan, who was Goodier's assistant at the judge advocate's office, had told him the defendant had declared, with an epithet, that he would get Captain Cowan out of the service. Colonel Reber explained that he meant by writing Captain Cowan to "sit tight and draw his pay," that Cowan was entitled to aviator's extra pay, although he was not an aviator.

Colonel Reber explained a statement that "it is embarrassing to me because Patterson does not appear on the weekly flying sheets," by saying that Lieut. W. L. Patterson had been prevented from flying by illness and by lack of machines, creating an embarrassing situation, but that the War Department knew the facts.

She is also survived by two brothers, Judge Augustus Van Wyche and Judge Robert Van Wyche, both of New York City.

PROBE ALL PHASES OF PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

Multitudinous Complaints are Lodged With Commission.

Investigation is to be Undertaken by Federal Board of the Entire Business from Wells to Consumers, Gasoline Included.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The Federal Trade Commission announced today that it had undertaken a "careful and complete investigation of nearly every phase of the production, transportation, refining and marketing of crude petroleum and its refined products in this country. The announcement said the inquiry was in response to Owen and Gore resolutions passed by the Senate.

The investigation's scope is indicated by the commission's outline of complaits upo which it is based. "Some of the compiaits," said the annoucement, 'allege unfair practices by former subsidiary companies of the Standard Oil Company and others are directed against various of the so-called independents. * * * * The commission has received complaints from persons engaged in producing oil from wells; from companies engaged in buying and transporting crude oil; from oil refiners; from oil jobbers; from retailers; and from consumers. These complaints come from all parts of the country and are often of a conflicting nature."

Protests against alleged price discrimination in the sale of gasoline, the commission said, had come from varous localities, particularly Georgia, California, Idaho and Missouri. A special investigation of gasoline prices is in progress.

Berlin, Nov. 2, (By wireless to Sayville)—All the Berlin newspapers today print obituaries of Herman Ridder, of New York, whose death is generally regretted. The obituaries pay special tribute to his merits for truth and just appreciation of Germany.

A New Model Typewriter

The No. 9 OLIVER
The Standard Visible Writer

BUY IT NOW!

Yes, the crowning typewriter triumph is here!

It is just out—and comes years before experts expected it. For makers have striven a lifetime to attain this ideal machine. And Oliver has won again, as we scored when we gave the world its first visible writing.

There is truly no other typewriter on earth like this new Oliver "9." Think of touch so light that the tread of a kitten will run the keys!

CAUTION!

The new-day advances that come alone on this machine are all controlled by Oliver. Even our own previous models — famous in their day — never had the Optional Duplex Shift.

It puts the whole control of 84 letters and characters in the little fingers of the right and left hands. And it lets you write them all with only 28 keys, the least to operate of any standard typewriter made.

Thus writers of all other machines can immediately run the Oliver Number "9" with more speed and greater ease.

WARNING!

This brilliant new Oliver comes at the old-time price. It costs no more than lesser makes — now out-of-date when compared with this discovery.

For while the Oliver's splendid new features are costly—we have equalized the added expense to us by simplifying construction.

Resolve right now to see this great achievement before you spend a dollar for any typewriter. If you are using some other make you will want to see how much more this one does.

If you are using an Oliver, it naturally follows that you want the finest model.

17 CENTS A DAY!

Remember this brand-new Oliver "9" is the greatest value ever given in a typewriter. It has all our previous special inventions—visible writing, automatic spacer, 6½ ounce touch—plus the Optional Duplex Shift, Selective Color Attachment and all these other new-day features.

Yet we have decided to sell it to everyone on our famous payment plan—17 cents a day! Now every user can easily afford to have the world's crack visible writer, with the famous PRINTYPE, that writes like print, included FREE if desired.

TODAY—Write For Full Details and be among the first to know about this marvel of writing machines. See why typists employers, and individuals everywhere are flocking to the Oliver. Just mail a postal at once. No obligation. It's a pleasure for us to tell you about it.

Rotation in office is a fixed principle in our State and national constitutions. They provide for elections every two to four years so as to give the people a chance to rotate their administration officials if they are not satisfactory. If officeholders do not like rotation, they had better not keep on rattling around in their offices. The outs who want in favor rotation, as a matter of course, but it is for the people to judge whether the ins are on the job or whether to try the outs on their merits instead of their aspirations.

THE TUMBLE OF COTTON

The price of cotton has gone off at a considerable decline within the past thirty days. Spot cotton has declined about a cent and a half a pound, or $7.50 a bale. The basis price yesterday was in the neighborhood of 11 cents and a shade better, whereas spots have been selling at 12 cents and better.

The causes assigned for the decline are more psychological than logical. The bears seem to have done the most effective howling. The price went down more than $2 a bale on Monday and again went off $1 a bale yesterday, but recovered towards the end of the day. The cause of the slump is said to be wholesale Southern selling, liquidation by cotton speculators in New York and rumored favorable reports of the crop in India. Those are very untenable grounds for a downward movement in the price.

We doubt whether those are the real grounds and rather suspect that the main reason is the growing difficulty of trans-Atlantic transportation. Ships are scarce and freight rates are high, $6.25 a bale to Liverpool, with chances of a higher water rate. Even at that, the cotton situation warrants higher prices instead of a decline. False hopes are based on the fine weather in the South. It will not appreciably increase the production. The crop has been made and it will be an exceedingly short one at best. There is bound to be another short crop next year. There is little potash for next year's crop and acid phosphates will be from $8 to $10 a ton higher. Farmers will go slow in putting good money into high fertilizers to raise low-price cotton. All the conditions discourage any large amount of cotton planting next year, therefore the fates decree another short crop.

To continue selling cotton at the decline would means a loss of $50,000,000 or more to the South. It is up to the holders of cotton, however, whether to keep on selling and putting down the market. They can hold with the certainty that they can not lose anything by it, as the world has only a limited amount of cotton to depend on and poor prospects of a larger supply next year. There is money to finance the holders and the cotton warehouses are available for that purpose. Loans can easily be had on cotton and it will be for the holders of cotton to decide for themselves whether they prefer to borrow money on cotton rather than sell it now and see the price soar after the crop passes out of the hands of the growers.

LOOKING BACKWARD

"Come over in Macedonia and help us." That was the appeal that the Apostle Paul answered.

Macedonia now belongs to Greece, and Saloniki, now in the glare of war, is a port on ts Aegean shore. The armed hosts of the Allies have gone over to Macedonia not to help Macedonia but to help Serbia, and for that purpose they have landed at a very ancient city that was founded 315 years before Christ. At that early date it was called Therma, but later it became Thesalonica. It was at Thesalonica that the Apostle Paul arrived to preach to the Thesalonians, to whom he wrote his Epistles to the Thesalonians, to be found in the New Testament.

Saloniki or Salonica appears to be an abbreviation of Thesalonica. It is now a port city with a population of 200,000, and now the apostles of Mars are there instead of the Apostle to the Gentiles. On his mission, St. Paul represented the Prince of Peace. On their mission, the Allies hope to head off the prince of power. They are in the land of alternating mythology, tragedy, atheology, Christianity, Mohamedanism, schism, militarism and possible chaos, in a country with a history going back for more than 2,230 years.

History seems to be disposed to repeat itself in the land of ancient history, and war is drifting toward the lands and the scenes of Sacred History. Sacred History ought to have a chance to repeat itself.

Macedonia once called for help from Christianity. Now the land of the ancients expects help by way of Macedonia where St. Paul preached the doctrine of redemption, enlightenment and civilization. He proclaimed the brotherhood of man, and now in the latter days it is a brotherhood engaged in a bloody war against itself—engaged in wholesale fratricide on a scale whose magnitude in unprecedented.

THE CANALIZED CONGAREE.

Columbia is now gloating over the fact that the locks and dams on the Congaree have been completed and that steamboats can now be run up to the foot of Senate street, which leads from one front of the capitol building to the river. Heretofore the steamers could only reach Granby, about three miles below the city, where freights were unloaded for a long haul to the city destination. Henceforth the landing will be within the city limits, obviating the three-mile haul of freights to or from Granby. Quite reasonably, that saves expense, increases the facilities for water transportation and makes the river all the more available from Columbia to the sea at Georgetown.

Shoals, shallows and swift water obstructed navigation up to Columbia till the locks and dam were put in a mile and three-quarters south of the city. The possibilities for water transportation were there, so the government engineers furnished the solution and an appropriation has provided Columbia an all-water route to Georgetown, where the river boats meets the New York and Wilmington steamers which run to the port of Georgetown. Freights or passengers can now go to Columbia from either New York or Wilmington, while Columbians can make the all-water trip if they should desire to do so.

The locks and dam provide a channel depth of from 6 to 10 feet to Columbia. The locks are 55 feet wide by 170 feet in length, and with the dredging that was necessary, cost more than $700,000 and several years of work. The official trip was made through the locks on Monday, when the government steamer Richland carried a party of Columbia merchants, chamber of commerce members and government officials through the improved waterway. The locks and gates are similar to those on the Panama Canal, and it required but a few minutes for the steamer to go through and be dropped nine feet to the river level at the end of the locks.

A landing can now be built at the foot of Senate street—one of the prerequisites to making the new waterway render a maximum of service—while warehouses can be constructed at the water terminal where they can be reached by sidetracks from the railroads. Columbia for some years has been receiving large quantities of water freights from New York, so, with the inconvenience and expense removed, the city will become a more extensive distributing point than heretofore. Her increased commerce and her advantage for distribution will amply repay the expense which has converted the Congaree into a transportation asset for the whole of central South Carolina. The very heart of the state can now get the benefit of economical water transportation.

This is peculiarly interesting to us on the Cape Fear, since the locks and dams near Elizabethtown will provide an eight-foot channel from there to Fayetteville. This work will be completed entirely in a few months and then there will be a chance for our Cape Fear river commerce to grow to large proportions. Then we can get behind the Intra-Coastal Waterway, to which the Savannah Morning News has referred in the following:

"President J. Hampton Moore, of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association looks to the approaching convention in Savannah as a means of convincing Congress that the new projects for the development of commerce through the improvement of the coastal waterways are entirely feasible on the grounds of economy, of interstate and foreign relations and of national defense. He points to the work of submarine and destroyer in the European war to reinforce his argument that the eastern seaboard of the United States offers an exceptional opportunity, in comparison with the coastal topography of other nations, to concentrate for national defense against hostile fleets. Coming at a time when public attention is addressed to this problem with peculiar intensity, the argument is very effective."

The Intra-Coastal Waterway, next to the Panama Canal, will be the Nation's greatest asset as a commercial as well as a defensive proposition. By all means Wilmington should see to it that the inland waterway shall reach the Cape Fear by way of Hewlett's creek into Brunswick bay, about three or four miles south of the city.

AUTOMOBILES AND RURAL PASTORS

Improved roads and automobiles are working wonders in the economic and social life of rural communities, and their influence is touching even the church and religious life—sometimes at points where it is unsuspected and certainly where it was unexpected. A pastor of rural churches is authority for the statement that the automobile has made it necessary for the preachers of this class to do more work in the study than they formerly had to do. This cannot but result in stronger and more efficient country pastors, and the communities as a whole are the beneficiaries. Score another point to the credit of good roads and automobiles.

Many of these ministers serve four churches and sometimes more, preaching one Sunday in each month at each church. These churches often are scattered, being from five to 25 miles apart and sometimes in different counties. In the old days even many of the very best of these faithful laborers in the vineyard would prepare, say two sermons per month and deliver these in rotation at each of four churches, preaching at most of them twice at each visitation. As the churches were widely separated, it was rare that the same person would hear the pastor preach the same sermon twice.

Now, however, with better roads and the automobile, considerable numbers of one congregation follow the pastor around the circuit, hearing him at one church one Sunday and at another the next, sometimes hearing him as much as three or four Sundays in succession. One rural preacher says that recently he had the unusual experience of preaching four times in one Sunday at different country churches and that at least one person followed him up and heard him at all four of the services.

This makes it necessary for the country preacher, like the city preacher, to prepare new sermons for each Sunday, thus necessitating more study and as a consequence more efficient ministers. However, there is another phase to the question. It takes more time from the minister's pastoral duties outside the pulpit, else it entails a larger aggregate of work, which should call for increased salaries.

THE UNION SCHOOL.

To the Editor of The Star:

Apparently Mr. Walker Meares has taken exception to my article, "A Game of Life," as carried in your Sunday issue, claiming that same was a reflection on him, in connection with the fact that a number of years ago he was a member of the school committee.

The writer wishes to disavow any reflection which might have been implied, or even inferred in his article, "A Game of Life," and reiterates one sentence which was contained in that article: "These lines are not bent on criticising any one," which, the writer believes, absolves him from any intended reflection of any person.

Mr. Meares, in his Union school article in today's Star, introduces us to a new brand of logic, when he states that the "Union school is a model building," and also "Being a wooden building is of no significance." If he can reason that an old wooden building, patched up for the coming year with wooden fire escapes, is "modern" and "safe" and that "there is not even any danger to the pupils in case of fire," I respectfully suggest that he go up and inspect the building and rewrite his article.

He states that there are six exits from the Union school, and that they are so situated as to preclude the possibility of the slightest mix-up in event exodus is made from every one at the same time.

Of course, fire escapes, figuratively speaking, are likened unto vaccination, in so far as they are of a preventative nature, but not altogether preventative. And I venture to state, were the Union school building surrounded by no side walls, or with walls so arranged as to make them collapsible or disappearing, and each student provided with parachutes, at the time of reckoning, after a fire, you would find a number of little ones unable to answer the living roll call. Fires, in buildings of this nature, usually start in the basement, where the Peabody, Mass., fire had its origin.

In days of yore, when Mr. Meares was a member of the school committee, the present Union school building probably stood forth in bold relief, a "model building"—but modernism changes the complexion of many things, ideals, etc., and to stand on the threshold of a present day modern building and have some one tell you that the old wooden Union school building is a "model", well it just makes one believe that Mr. Meares wrote his article hurriedly and without mature thought; and he almost committed a sacrilege when he dignified the old structure by calling it "model." The present school board admit the building to be a back number, a relic of the past, and a few months back forbade the use of the building for commencement exercises, and for additional proof of this, they have purchased a tract of land and completed plans for a new building, with the intention of razing the old building, which Mr. Meares so fondly champions.

The writer does not invite a controversy over this subject, but gladly will he welcome a discussion of the real facts as they are in connection with the danger from fire to the dilapidated Union school building.

Thanking you for your space, I subscribe myself anonymously,

"SLEEPING OUT" FASHIONABLE

Modern Homes Must Have Sleeping Porches to be Efficient.

A bulletin from the State Board of Health says:

"Sleeping out used to be a fad, and was practiced more for the novelty of the idea than for the good that it was supposed to bring about, but today the fad stage has passed and the sleeping out habit, and the sleeping porch have comes to stay and take their places, in the home equipment. The custom of sleeping regularly in the open air and the idea that every healthful, efficient home must have a sleeping porch are winning new devotees every day. As a matter of fact all the modern homes are now being built with these necessary fresh air apartments and many of the old homes are rapidly providing similar arrangements."

The bulletin mentions several advantages to be derived from this fresh air crusade, among which are: A greater immunity to colds and other communicable diseases, an increased bodily vigor, need of less artificial heat for comfort, and as a preventive of tuberculosis and bronchal troubles. "It stands to reason," says the bulletin, "that if fresh air is the most vital factor in the cure of consumption, that it is of the greatest value in warding off consumption."

The bulletin further advises that this is the ideal season of the year to form the habit of "sleeping out." To begin it later on in the winter might be hazardous, but to begin now, in the fall, and gradually tone up to the very cold weather will be easy and will be the means of getting the benefits of out door sleeping all winted. Of course, proper sleeping garments are necessary. Large, soft, porous pajamas with plenty of double blankets under as well as over for cover should be provided.

CURRENT COMMENT.

While Savannah's pathfinding party was heading towards New York, a Boston automobile party arrived here, having made the trip comfortably in two weeks. Last summer a Savannah party motored to Boston and thence to Maine, and now a third motor party has arrived from the hills of New Hampshire, stopping at Brunswick on the way to Florida. Seeing is believing. A demonstration of this kind goes further than any amount of argument. Official tourist routes to the South should come by way of Savannah.—Savannah News.

The Shelby editor who turns Republican because of the shrinkage in his income due to the tariff makes out a good case for himself. Yet we have been doing business under all sorts of administrations, both State and National and have been able to see but little difference.—Durham Herald.

Mr. J. A. Stanton, one of the largest cotton growers in Robeson county, has planted this year a number of acres of long-staple cotton, and says he will make as much to the acre of this kind as he will of the other and will average a bale to the acre. He has sold none of this kind for less than 15 cents and some as high as 17 cents.—Lumberton Robesonian.

For the first time in twenty to thirty years Lenoir county has this year shipped corn to other markets. Heretofore from 100 to 150 cars of the grain have been imported from the West. This year the local needs were taxen care of and more than 100 cars have been exported. Not a single car, the Free Press is informed, has been brought in from the West this season. Lenoir is going in for diversified farming all right, and what is better, she's raising corn, which is good for "man and beast" (with apologies to the well-known liniment).—Kinston Free Press.

A Charlotte firm handling tractors and improved farm machinery made application for open air ground space on which to make an exhibit at the State Fair at Raleigh and got it by paying a fee of $25. The same firm made application for space at the State Fair at Columbia and was invited to come along, that space was free and that the fair association rather felt it was indebted to the Charlotte firm, as it was the mission of the association to make the exhibit of improved farming machinery an item of value to the farmers in whose interests the fair was established and is conducted. Instead of fees being charged, inducements were offered to bring a fine class of agricultural exhibits. Strikes The Observer that the management of the State Fair at Raleigh might find in this instance a point worth considering. It is through business methods of this sort that the fair at Columbia has built up a reputation as one of the finest in the Southern States. It is a State Fair in fact and not in name only. The paid admittances at the gates on one day alone, amounted to 50,000. The steel building used at the Jamestown Corn Show, an immense affair, was bought by the South Carolina State Fair Association especially for the agricultural exhibits and it serves its purpose admirably. Every county in South Carolina had an exhibit and for each exhibit there was a county demonstrator. The counties drew location of booth by lot. The open ground under roof was utilized for an exhibition of growing crops. Fruit trees were shown pruned and unpruned; there was practical demonstration of various growing crops in like manner and the students of Clemson College brought their workshops to the fair and gave an exhibition of the various manufacturing and industrial employments. Equal perfection and elaborateness was in manifestation in the livestock and dairying industries, and whatever of a midway there might have been was in the nature of an annex to the fair—not the fair an annex to the midway. But the institution at Raleigh is sorry enough without being held up in comparison with that at Columbia. What Raleigh needs is rejuvenation and re-organization and a broadening out of policy in a way that will make the whole State a party to the State Fair.—Charlotte Observer.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank all of our friends who were so kind and sympathetic in the recent sickness and death of our little son, Charles Worth, assuring each one that the kindness will never be forgotten. We desire to especially thank those who sent beautiful floral designs for the funreal and interment yesterday afternoon.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CORN SHOW PRIZES ANNOUNCED IN FULL

Greater Variety and Attractive List Assures Interest

Approximately $500 in Money, Blue and Red Ribbons—General Information About Exhibits—Music to be Feature.

The announcement of the prizes and awards committee, giving a complete list of the prizes and products for the Corn and Agricultural Show was the most important and interesting feature of the arrangements made yesterday for the coming event.

The amount to be given in prizes is approximately $500 to say nothing of the blue and red ribbons and the banner for the best county exhibit. The prize money this year is very much more evenly distributed and at the same time embraces a larger number of products that were not mentioned in the prize list of the two previous shows. The variety this year will be very much larger and more interesting and the fact that nine counties—New Hanover, Brunswick, Pender, Duplin, Bladen, Sampson, Robeson, Onslow, and Columbus—will attract a great deal more attention. This list has been prepared with due consideration and will be far more acceptable and, it is believed, will attract a large number of exhibits that would not have overwise come. In announcing the prizes and the products some general information is also given with reference to shipping these products to Wilmington and returning to the owner at his request.

The executive committee has decided that the Corn Show will open at 10 a. m. and close at 10 p. m. The Hanover concert band will furnish music from 1 p. m. until 8 p. m. and there will be special orchestra music from 8 p. m. until the close. The interest in the Corn Show is increasing daily and it is expected that the attendance will be exceedingly large.

Prizes will be distributed for best exhibits under directions of competent judges, including the following:

Corn contest—Instead of giving the premiums for the greatest amount of corn grown to any one acre, the prizes are offered for the most prolific and best exhibits, to consist of ten ears, accompanied by three stalks with ears attached. In judging corn at the fair, the awards will be made according to the following scale of points: Prolificacy, 60 per cent.; type of ear, 30 per cent.; type of stalk, 10 per cent.

Prizes for men: Most prolific and best exhibit, any variety, to consist of ten ears, accompanied by three stalks, with ears attached, of the same variety: First premium, $5; second premium, $3; third premium $2.

Prizes for boys: Most prolific and best exhibit, any variety, to consist of ten ears, accompanied by three stalks, with ears attached, of same variety as the ears exhibited: First premium, $2.50; second premium, $1.50; third premium, $1.

Sweepstakes for the county for ten ears, accompanied by three stalks with ears attached, of the same variety as the ten ears exhibit. This is open only to the highest scoring ten exhibits from the county exhibits of premiums 1 and 2. Premium, $2.50.

For the largest yield of corn per acre from the Boys' Corn Club—Premiums offered by Senator W. B. Cooper: First premium, $10; second premium, $7.50; third premium, $5; fourth premium, $2.50.

Ear exhibit—Best ten ears of Biggs' Prolific corn, $1; best ten ears of Hickory King corn, $1; best ten ears of Horsetooth corn, $1; best ten ears of Cocke's Prolific corn, $1; best ten ears of any other white corn, $1; best ten ears of any yellow corn, $1; best single ear of one eared corn, $1; best single ear of prolific corn, $1; best single ear of any variety, emphasis being placed on shape and size of ear and kernels, $1.

Oat contest—1. Best peck and sheaf of Burt oats. 2. best peck and sheaf of Appier oats, (sheaf to measure 15 inches around). 3. best peck and sheaf of fall sown red rust proof oats, sheaf to measure 15 inches around. 4. best peck and sheaf of spring sown red rust proof oats, sheaf to measure 15 inches around. 5. best peck and sheaf of Virginia Gray or Turf oats, sheaf to measure 15 inches around. 6. best peck and sheaf of any other variety, sheaf to measure 15 inches around.

First prize in each will be 50 cents and the second 25 cents.

Hay contest—Premiums on hay offered by the State Department of Agriculture for the Wilmington Corn and Agricultural Show: Best bale cowpea vine hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale peanut vine hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale crimson clover hay, not less than 10 pounds. best bale red clover hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale soy bean hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale alfalfa hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale oat and vetch hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale crab grass hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale mixed hay, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale other grasses, not less than 10 pounds. Best bale corn stover, not less than 10 pounds.

First prize in each will be $1 and second will be 50c.

Score card for judging hay: Maturity, cut at proper stage of maturity, 25 points. Condition, in good merchantable order, freedom from dust, mold, excessive moisture or damage, 25 points. Color, bright or natural color, freedom from sunburn or moisture strains, 20 points. Aroma, characteristic of the hay named, sweet and free from mustiness, 20 points. Texture, not too coarse.

Hay entered for these premiums must be carefully baled, cut at the proper stage to make good hay, well cured, free from mold or mustiness and containing not exceeding 10 per cent of other grasses or hay not the one under which it is entered, except in "mixed grasses." Failure to observe these rules will debar it from a premium.

Irish potatoes, fall grown—Best peck Irish Cobler, $2.50; best peck Red Bliss, $2.50; best peck of any variety, $2.50; five largest of any variety, $1.

Premiums from State Department of Agriculture for potatoes will be awarded to the following score card: Uniformity, 40 points; smoothness, 20 points; freedom from blemishes, 20 points; shallowness of eyes, 10 points; size (marketable size), 10 points.

Sweet potatoes—Best peck Norton Yams, $2.50; best peck Nancy Hall, $2.50; best peck Porto Rico, $2.50; best peck Triumph, $2.50; best peck of any variety, $2.50; five largest of any variety, $1.00.

The above premiums from the State Department of Agriculture for sweet potatoes will be awarded according to the following score card: Uniformity, 40 points; smoothness, 20 points; trueness of type, 20 points; freedom

BUILDING IS INCREASING

Residences Are Going Up Rapidly. Double the Amount for Same Time of Last Year.

Building in the city has been gradually on the increase for many months, and without any abnormal spurts, the past October shows nearly twice the activity of October of 1914. The total building for the month amounted to 20 permits for buildings estimated to cost a total of over $30,000, while the books for October of 1914 showed 16 permits, estimated to cost something over $16,000.

The indication is as yet that building for the year 1915 will fall behind 1914 on account of the Murchison National Bank building, but such buildings costing more than a quarter of a million dollars seldom go up in a town like Wilmington and the normal prosperity may better be counted by the regularity of the more ordinary constructions. This year has shown some important business development, in the Royal Theatre building and the Bear building, both of which are a credit to the city and add much beauty and attractiveness to the down town section.

The permits for the month were as follows, according to whom issued, location and style of building:

To B. A. Mauny, one-story dwelling at No. 1211 South Fourth street, at an estimated cost of $1,500.

Archdeacon Thos. P. Noe, a two-story dwelling, on Market street, between Sixth and Seventh; estimated cost $2,500.

W. A. Turner, one-story frame building, Fifth street, between Orange and Ann, cost $4,500.

Mrs. A. S. Williams, two-story residence, 15th and Princess streets, cost $9,000.

Frank Meares, one-story frame building, on Eighth street, between Orange and Ann, cost $50. (repairing).

W. P. Cline, frame garage, No. 813 Princess street, cost $100.

W. M. Atkinson, two one-story dwellings, 10th street, between Meares and Marstellar, cost $575 each.

J. O. Herring, one-story frame dwelling, Sixth street, between Marstellar and Kidder.

J. F. Rulfs, one-story dwelling, Kidder street, between Sixth and Seventh, cost $450.

J. A. Carter, one-story, residence, Meares street, between 10th and 11th, cost $500.

Chas. Kelly, stable, No. 719 Church street, cost $50.

W. G. James, two-story dwelling, Market street, between 18th and 19th, cost $3,500.

C. C. Chadbourn, two-story residence, 14th and Dock, cost $3,000.

J. M. Brinson, one-story dwelling, No. 511 South Second street, cost $400.

T. H. Wright, repairing front of garage, No. 16 and 18 Market street, cost $2,000.

J. H. Bickett, two-story residence, Fifth street, between Harnett and Swann, cost $300.

Lewis Everege, repairing one-story dwelling, Charlotte street, between 12th and 13th, cost $50.

Giles Smith, store at Fanning and Dickerson streets, cost $600.

Small Fire on North Second.

The fire department was called out yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from box No. 126, for a small fire on the roof of the one story frame building, owned by Mr. J. T. Fay and occupied by Mr. J. W. Calhoun, at No. 1011 North Second street. The fire was started from sparks from the chimney and the damage was only slight.

MANY ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOLS

Splendid Showing Made in Wilmington. Rural Schools Not Yet Heard From—Much Interest.

The enrollment of four score men, women and children in the city moonlight schools last night was most gratifying to the promoters of the movement in New Hanover county and showed conclusively that those whom it is desired to help are vitally interested. The "Flying Committee" of the Junior Order last night visited every one of the city schools and were pleasantly surprised to find such a large enrollment. Mr. John R. Hanby, although not a member of the Junior Order, generously donated the free use of his automobile to the committee to make the trip to the city schools. Mr. John J. Blair, superintendent of the city schools, visited several of the city schools.

At the William Hooper school, there were 44 pupils enrolled and at the Cornelius Harnett there were 18, while Delgado had an enrollment of 27, 16 men and 11 women, ranging in age from 17 to 72. There were several enrolled at the High School. At the Union school there were several present, but these were transferred to other schools. Although there were no applicants at the Hemenway, there were 11 teachers on hand, who had kindly volunteered their services.

The next lesson for the classes organized last night will be on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock when it is expected that the enrollment will be much larger. It is hoped that not only those desiring to learn to read and write will attend but that others, who wish to pursue studies in some particular branch, will also attend.

The Junior Order committee's highest hopes had been that 100 pupils would be enrolled in the county. With nearly that many enrolled in the city and the prospects of having others, it is expected that when the rural schools are heard from that the enrollment will exceed this number. Committees from the Junior Order were stationed at every school to meet the pupils and introduce them to the teachers and to one another and to make all feel at home. Pads and pencils were also provided by the Juniors.

As an evidence of the deep interest that many people of the city are taking in the movement, a gentleman walked into the office of the Board of Education yesterday morning and contributed $5 for the cause. This will be used in providing transportation for the teachers, who have kindly tendered their services free of charge.

Besides the regular teachers of the schools there are a number of women from Sorosis, who are equipped to teach scientifically, offering their services. The leaders of the movement, who have been spending their time and energies to promote the movement state they were amply repaid last night to see the start and the deep interest manifested.

W. P. STACY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. M. C. A.

Young Wilmington Attorney Heads Local Association.

Succeeds Mr. Daniel H. Penton, Who Resigned Some Time Ago—Secretary Huntington Reports Gratifying Progress

W. P. Stacy, Esq., a well known and popular young attorney of Wilmington, was unanimously elected president of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting of the board of directors of the institution last night. He succeeds Mr. Daniel H. Penton, who resigned some time ago, after having served for more than two years in this position. While regretting to have such a capable man as Mr. Penton give up the place, the directors feel that they are fortunate in having a man of Mr. Stacy's ability assume charge of the association.

Mr. Stacy was formerly vice president but resigned upon his election to the house of representatives in the last General Assembly and was succeeded by Mr. D. H. Howes, Jr.

Mr. J. B. Huntington, general secretary of the association, in his monthly report, reported that the work in every department was progressing most satisfactorily and that the outlook was most encouraging. The membership for October this year had an increase of 62 over the same month last year while the total attendance in the physical department had a total attendance during the month of 4,601, an increase of more than 1,000 over the same month last year. There are 21 boys enrolled in the different educational classes and all are doing fine work. The religious work of the association has been thoroughly organized under the direction of the religious work committee. The Yoke Fellows are doing splendid extension work in the city and county. There are two Bible classes for Senior members and two more are contemplated.

The report of the city boys' department was also heard with much interest. Mr. Odis B. Hinnant, who has charge of this work, is doing not only a great deal for the boys of the city but is also interesting the older people in this great work. The boys' division is also doing most efficient work and is meetting with gratifying success.

MINISTERS ELECT OFFICERS

Rev. J. A. Sullivan, President and Rev. W. V. McRae, Vice-President.

Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, was unanimously elected president of the Wilmington Ministers' Association at the regular meeting Monday morning to succeed Rev. F. B. Clausen, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, who has served very acceptably in this position during the past year. Rev. W. V. McRae, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, was elected vice president.

Mr. J. B. Huntington, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has been the very capable secretary and treasurer of the association for the last several years, was instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the organization for his re-election for another year, which he did with some hesitation, rather doubting the propriety of the transaction. However, the members insisted that it was entirely proper.

Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, made a very interesting and instructive address on Winston Churchill's recent book, "The Far Country."

DEATH OF MR. HEINSBERGER

Prominent Wilmingtonian Passed to His Reward Last Night at 8:30. Funeral Occurs Today.

It will be sad news to the people of Wilmington to learn that Mr. Philip Heinsberger, Sr., died at his home, No. 807 Ann street, last evening at 8:30 o'clock, in the 83rd year of his life. Although he had been in failing health for some time, his death was a severe shock to all his friends.

Mr. Heinsberger was born at Bokum, Germany, and come to Wilmington when 18 years of age. From that time until the time of the war between the States he worked at his trade of bookbinding and printing. He enlisted at the beginning of the war with the German Volunteers in Cumming's battery, being stationed at Fort Caswell part of the time and at Fort Fisher for the remainder of the war. He remained in service until after the battle of Bentonville, in June of 1865. After the war he went into the book and stationery business and was for many years one of the most prominent business men of the city, retiring in 1896. He married Miss Margaret Stuart, of Paterson, N. J.

Mr. Heinsberger was a member of Cape Fear Camp, No. 254, United Confederate Veterans, and of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. He was secretary for many years of the Wilmington Merchants' Association, when it was first in operation. He was also secretary of the Wilmington Society for Cruelty to Animals for a long time. He was a gentleman of the old school, and was universally liked.

Surviving him is one brother, in Paterson, N. J., and several brothers and sisters in Germany; three sons, Messrs. Philip Heinsberger, Jr., and Edward L. Heinsberger, of this city, and Mr. Stuart Heinsberger, of Charleston, S. C.; three grandchildren, Margaret, Stuart and Sara Hicks, of Wilmington, and Raymond Wallace, of St. Angelo, Texas.

Funeral services will be held from the residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Cape Fear Camp, No. 254, U. C. V., will meet at the residence at 3:30 this afternoon, to attend the services. Burial will be in Oakdale cemetery.

AGROUND IN CAPE FEAR.

British Steamer Moorby is Waiting Just This Side of Big Island.

The British tramp steamer Moorby, with a cargo of pyrites from Spain to the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, missed the channel just this side of Big Island Monday afternoon and ran aground. Big Island is about nine miles below Wilmington.

The tugs Gladiator and Argonauta were busy yesterday trying to pull her out. It was expected that the vessel would float last night on high tide.

LOCAL LUMBER SITUATION

Trade Conditions Throughout Yellow Pine District Growing Stronger—Short Leaf Prices Improve.

Lumber conditions throughout the yellow pine district of the South are growing stronger, prices are advancing on practically all items, with the demand more urgent and covering a wider latitude of territory than at any time in years while short leaf pine conditions are likewise improving, according to the Southern Lumber Journal, of Wilmington, which in this week's issue has the following:

"The yellow pine situation is one of pronounced strength and extraordinary activity in every direction. Mills are loaded down to the water line with business that will keep them running every day in the week under a full head of steam to cut during the balance of the year, taking care of such business as they will have to take on in the meantime. Especially is this true in the territory of Georgia, Florida and the adjoining states, where business is better, demands are stronger, and prices are higher and advancing more rapidly than we have known to be the case before in ten years. Prices for many items advanced one and two dollars per thousand last week.

"Following quick and close upon the heels of the big order of 50,500,000 feet of lumber and timbers for the Italian government placed two or three weeks ago, comes the announcement of an order of approximately 300,000,000 feet of lumber and cross ties for the Russian government to be shipped out and moved to port as soon as possible. In addition to all this the Panama Canal Commission is out with an order for about nine million feet of yellow pine, Douglas fir, hardwoods and cypress, the most of which is easy cutting and desirable lengths, sizes, etc. When added to all this we take the current demands from railroads, car builders, subway construction and elevated railwaybuilding in the larger cities, increased shipbuilding, etc., together with the additional demands created in the South by 12 cent cotton, and we have the most prosperous outlook for Southern pine the mill men have feasted upon in a long, long while.

"While displaying strength nothing like that of yellow pine, North Carolina pine is nevertheless in better demand than was the case 60 and 90 days ago. On some items the demands have increased so substantially of late that prices have been marked up 50 cents to $1 a thousand. The improvement, therefore, in this department of the industdy consists more in the strength of the increased demands than in prices. But the latter will come along in due time. As a matter of fact, North Carolina pine should be two to three dollars a thousand higher than it is today, and would be but for the heavy influx of Canadian lumber into the Eastern and New England markets which furnish the greatest outlet for this class of material in the territory skirting the North Atlantic states from Virginia to Massachusetts. Within the past ten days, however, reports to this office show that North Carolina pine prices have strengthened materially and orders have been pouring in on the mills at a great rate, many of which have been returned and higher prices asked, in a number of cases the same have come back with increased prices attached. This has been notably true during the past ten days and two or three mill men tell us that they have declined more business at the old prices and at the same time booked more orders at higher values during the past ten days than in as many weeks before. If the manufacturers would advance prices one dollar per thousand feet all down the list, they will sell every foot of lumber they had in sixty days.

"To our way of thinking the man who expects to buy North Carolina pine at the old prices now or hereafter is going to find out to his sorrow that he is simply playing the game of wild goose chasing. As a matter of fact he will not be able to buy lumber as cheap thirty days hence as it can be bought today. The boards, deals and plank market from and including Florida all the way round to Texas is practically bare of this class of material, having been cleaned up by the Italian and Russian orders, the only available stocks of this character being located in Virginia, the two Carolinas and Georgia. It is furthermore likely that British demands for lumber and trench warfare material will be sufficiently large in the near future as to turn the tide of Canadian shipments of lumber from New England and the Eastern markets into an entirely different direction, thus leaving the same requirements to be supplied by the mills in Virginia, the two Carolinas and other South Atlantic states.

TO LET BIDS SOON.

Government Will Build Warehouse in Place of One Burned.

It was stated yesterday in the office of the United States District Engineer that bids would be opened, probably in about 20 days for the construction of a steel fireproof storage warehouse, to be erected at the government repair and storage yard on Eagles' Island, opposite Queen street, to replace the building destroyed by fire last spring.

The building will be made of structural seel and galvanized iron, and will be 34x60 feet in size. The cost is estimated at about $4,000. It will be used for government property and stores.

CURED OF PELLAGRA; WOMAN IS SO HAPPY

Ratliff, Miss.—Ida Creel, of this place, writes: "I am enjoying fine health, better than I have in years. My weight is 116; when I began taking your treatment it was 98. I sure can praise your treatment; can eat anything I want and it don't seem to hurt me."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Baughn.

The symptoms—hands red like sunburn, skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much mucus and choking; indigestion and nausea, either diarrhoea or constipation.

There is hope; get Baughn's big Free book on Pellagra and learn about the remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., box 2087, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv.

DELIGHTFUL HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT MYRTLE GROVE.

The friends and patrons of Myrtle Grove school in response to invitations sent out by the teacher, Miss Annie Laurie Quinn, gathered at the school house on Saturday night and celebrated Hallowe'en in the real old fashioned way. The building was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and jack-o'-lanterns. No charge was made for admission but refreshments were sold and a good sum was realized which will be used in beautifying the grounds.

The entertainment for the evening was inaugurated by a ghost parade in which all manner of departed spirits took part, and gamboled and disported themselves in a truly weird manner. After the parade, refreshments were served by the ladies and the fun began in earnest. There was something doing all the time, and everywhere. The witches told dark, mysterious secrets. There was a voting contest for the most beautiful girl, with a large cake as the prize. This was won by Miss Maggie Padrick, of Masonboro. Mr. J. F. Harris, Jr., sang a solo entitled, "Asleep in the Deep," which was greatly enjoyed by all. Miss Edna Brown played the accompaniment on the piano. The evening passed only too quickly and in departing the guests were unanimous in pronouncing it a most delightful occasion.

MRS. W. L. BEERY GUEST OF HONOR AT CHARMING PARTY

Lillington, Nov. 2.—Mrs. W. L. Beery, of Wilmington, who has been the delightful guest of Mrs. A. P. McPherson for several days past, was honoree on Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 at a most enjoyable reception.

Mrs. McPherson welcomed her guests at the door and showed them into the parlor which had been most artistically decorated with a profusion of bright red dahlias and ferns.

The amusement for the afternoon was two unique contests, the first being a "stitch" contest. There was a tie for the prize, and Mrs. L. J. Arnold was the lucky one, receiving a beautiful hand embroidered guest towel. lady with cloth, needle, thread and thimble with the request that each made her prettiest buttonhole. Then there were spread on the library table an array of button-holes "fit for any frock." The judges declared Mrs. Beery the champion seamstress, and presented her with a beautiful pair of button-hole scissors that she may make more and better button-holes in the years to come. She also received as the guest prize, an exquisite bottle of Mary Garden extract.

The guest were then ushered into the dining room where the color scheme of red and green was carried out in decorations and refreshments. Autumn leaves of various tints being used as a setting for the scarlet dahlias. A delicious salad course was followed by cherry block cream and caramel cake.

Those enjoying the delightful affair included the honoree, Mrs. Beery, of Wilmington; Mesdames L. J. Arnold, J. N. Fuquay, J. C. Thompson, G. W. Perry, W. M. Bryan and J. B. Tugwell.

OWNER OF STORE BUILDING OBJECTED TO PAINTING SIGN.

Mr. J. H. Strauss Secures Injunction of Court Against Tenant.

When Mr. J. H. Strauss objected to the painting of a large sign on the side of a building owned by him at Fourth and Hanover streets, and occupied by Alex Kosch, who conducts a dry goods business, the latter first desisted but more recently started again, wherefore the owner of the store has instituted proceedings in Superior Court asking that an injunction be granted restraining said Kosch from painting said sign. The complaint was presented in due form to Judge Daniels in Superior Court yesterday and he granted a temporary injunction and signed an order citing the defendant to appear before him on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and show cause, if any, why the order should not be made permanent.

Mr. Strauss sets forth in his complaint that the painting of the sign on the building would be greatly detrimental to the plaintiff's building and that the defendant has no authority to deface it in the manner described and, therefore, prays the court to restrain the defendant from "defacing or painting plaintiff's property by painting a large unsightly sign on said building which fronts on Hanover street." Kosch has a lease on the property until October 1st of next year. The plaintiff is represented by Kenan & Stacy.

The entire day in Superior court was taken up yesterday with the examination of witnesses for the plaintiff in the case of Sarah C. Witte, administratrix, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and Schloss-Bear-Davis Company, in which she is seeking to recover $50,000, alleged damages for the death of her father in 1913.

ROBBERS ON RED CROSS

Has Misfortune of Searching Wrong Trousers and Missed $80.

A bold bad robber may feel sorry when he reads this and learns that the pair of trousers lying with the pair he searched at No. 314 Red Cross street Monday night, had $80 in perfectly good cash, although he did get $20.38 from Mr. C. K. Council's trousers.

The entrance was made into the home, which is occupied by Mrs. Hinnant Borden, and is supposed to have been between 11:30 p. m. and 2:30 a. m. Nothing was missed except the $20 taken from the trousers of Mr. Council.

Mr. Frank M. Abeel reported that on the same night some one entered his home, No. 310 Red Cross street, by forcing open a back window. Nothing was missed.

Policeman J. O. Bullard and W. G. Hansley made investigation, but no arrests have been made.

FOR SCHOOL INSPECTION.

Health Officer Chas. T. Nesbitt Tells Board of Education of Plan.

The plan used by the Board of Health for school inspection was outlined a few days ago by Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, county health officer, in a letter to the Board of Education.

The letter tells of a superficial physical survey which impressed Dr. Nesbitt with the facts that much improvement has been found among the children of the more prosperous families, where the parents were able to follow the plans outlined to them by the health department and that lack of means and not lack of interest caused many of the poorer classes to neglect the physical welfare of their children. Dr. Nesbitt still believes that the employment of a public school physician, probably at an expense of $3,000 annually, would be money well spent and then the poorer children would be in position to enjoy the advantages as well as the others.

WANT RICHMOND IN LEAGUE

Wilmington, However, is Still Being Mentioned as a Possibility in the Virginia League.

Wilmington continues to get into the limelight on the sporting pages of various papers because of her reported anxiety to get into the Virginia League. Judging from the dope of the baseball writers, Wilmington will have to make a strong bid for the franchise dropped by Petersburg, if she really wants to get in the league. Hopewell, Va., that live town which grew up in a day almost and now has a population of 30,000 souls, wants the berth and now comes a story that the club owners want Richmond to get in and are waiting until that city can decide what she wants to do before they act.

"The affairs of the Virginia League appear to be in a chaotic condition," writes the correspondent of the Baltimore Sun from Lynchburg, Va., "for the recent meeting of the magnates in Roanoke seems to indicate that it is going to be no easy proposition to settle the circuit question at an early date.

"The fact that Hopewell, the new powder town, is anxious for a franchise, and that Wilmington, N. C., is just as eager to get in as can be, does not simplify matters a whit for the directors. Although there are two towns persisting in an effort to land the berth and several others ready to consider membership at the invitation of the league, the directors are going to find it a hard proposition to solve satisfactorily.

"The thorn that is bothering the circuit builders just now is Richmond. If there was no uncertainty about the Richmond territory in the International circuit for 1916, the Virginia League magnates could mighty easily dispose of their troubles by the admission of Hopewell, thus providing for just as compact a circuit as there was before the defection of Petersburg last June. It is evident that the directors desire to go slow on this circuit-building proposition, in order to be able to include Richmond in the circuit for next year in case that city is left out of the talked-of shake-up of the International League.

"The Virgina League last year proved that it could go through a season without Richmond, but the league is not the same without the capital city as it was with it. The club owners miss those ducats which came from the week-end schedules in that city, and it is for that reason that Hopewell and Wilmington are to be kept on the waiting list for another month, at least.

"The next meeting is to be held in Norfolk November 18, but it may be pretty safely predicted that nothing will be done then toward a settlement of the new circuit if the International League has not settled its 1916 affairs."

FORMAL OPENING TODAY

Wilmington Shoe Company Begin Business in New Location.

The Wilmington Shoe Company, of which Mr. L. W. Wessell is manager and one-halfowner, have moved into their new store No. 203 North Front street, next to the Murchison National bank building, and the formal opening takes place today. All ladies visiting the store will be given a souvenir. In their new location they have one of the handsomest and most up-to-date shoe stores in the city, the entire store being finished in mahogany with large plate glass windows, each fitted up with large plate mirrors, while the other fixtures are of the latest type.

They carry a carefully selected stock of such well known lines as the La-France, the Smaltz-Goodwin and Craddock-Terry for the ladies and for the men the Nettleton and the Craddock-Terry. They also carry a complete line for girls, boys and children.

Mr. Wessell is ably assisted by a capable corps of salesmen including Messrs. W. T. Chisholm and L. Wood and Mrs. H. C. Greene. The opening will continue all day and the store will be open for inspection until 9:30 this evening.

Momentous Future In Woman's Mind

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as "Mother's Friend." It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve all strain on nerves, cords, ligaments and all parts involved. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand naturally. And at the same time they are invigorated by the absence of harassing pains so apt to distress the mind. Whatever will add to the comfort of the expectant mother is a great and helpful influence since a calm and peaceful period must have a wonderfully beneficial impress upon the coming child. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will realize why so many women declare it to be the most helpful remedy they know of. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 703 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a splendid book of great interest and value to every expectant mother.

Among the letters of interest in this book one says, in part, "Seven years ago I suffered from Wednesday to Saturday and had to have instruments. This time I was sick only three hours. I want to tell all that I can not praise 'Mother's Friend' high enough for the good it did me, as I had an easy time and the baby was perfect. I will always speak a good word for it."

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

APPEAL FOR CLEMENCY PERPLEXES GOVERNOR

Can See no Reason to Commute Sentence of Negro

Portrait of Col. J. M. Morehead Presented to Supreme Court by Guilford Bar—Low Rates to Farmers' Convention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 2.—Governor Craig is greatly perplexed over what to do with an appeal that is being pressed upon him for the commutation of the death sentence against Wiley Brice, a Mecklenburg county negro, scheduled to die in the electric chair here November 9. The commutation is being urged by the trial judge who imposed the sentence and by the solicitor who prosecuted. However, in going through the case, the Governor feels that he cannot discover the least bit of extenuating circumstances that should tend to constrain him to stay the death sentence.

The negro criminally assaulted a six-year-old white child, having choked her into unconsciousness. The Governor feels, he says, that the people of the State justly demand that the death sentence apply in a case as aggravated as this, although the evidence may not be conclusive that the negro actually accomplished his fiendish purpose. The final ruling as to commutation will not be made for a few days yet, but there is little indication now that there will be any executive clemency.

Some Fine Apples.

The finest premium apples of five best varieties, each plate of fruit bearing the blue ribbon awarded at the recent State fair, are displayed in one of the show windows of the H. Mahler's Sons jewelry store on Fayetteville street. Crowds of people are attracted to the display, the apples being perfect specimens. The varieties and growers follow:

The Hoover apple, grown by J. H. Coyburn, Cruse, Haywood county; the Mammoth Twig, grown by F. H. Coyburn, Cruse, Haywood county; the Fallawater, grown by F. H. Coyburn, Cruse, Haywood county; the York, grown by T. C. Davis, Waynesville; the Gillaflower, grown by T. H. Coyburn, Cruse, Haywood county.

New Chief Sworn In.

Charles F. Koonce, the new Raleigh chief of police, took the oath of office this morning before Mayor Johnson and is in full charge of the police department, having spent the past two weeks in Norfolk noting the best features of that department with a view to adopting them in the management of the Raleigh department. The Raleigh Typographical Union, of which Koonce has been the secretary for the past 12 years, presented him with a handsome gold chief's badge.

Special police officers bagged a negro cocaine vender this morning at union station as the negro was coming in from Lynchburg with 29 packages of the "dope" in his pockets. His name is Ezra Shaw. The police have suspected him for some time.

Morehead Portrait Presented.

The life bust size oil portrait of Col. James M. Morehead, of Greensboro, painted by Miss E. M. Whitfield, of Richmond, Va., was presented to the Supreme Court today with an appropriate address by R. C. Strudwick, of Greensboro, in which he paid high tribute to the splendid career of Colonel Morehead, who is living in Greensboro at the advanced age of 78 years and has for many years been one of the most able and honored lawyers of the State. Chief Justice Clark accepted the painting with assurances that the court will highly prize it and give it a place of honor on the walls of the court library along with other distinguished lawyers of the State.

Miss Whitfield, the artist, although living now in Richmond, is a North Carolinian, being a daughter of the late Dr. Theo. Whitfield, for many years an active pastor in Charlotte.

Low Rates for Farmers.

Reduced railroad rates upon all systems in North Carolina having been offered the State Farmers' Union for its convention in Durham November 16, 17 and 18, Prof. W. C. Crosby, educational secretary, is encouraged to hope for the greatest crowd of all conventions.

The round trip fare has been reduced almost to the single rate and the cut gives farmers in the remotest portion of North Carolina the lowest possible rate. The delegates will not be the sole beneficiaries of this concession and those who are not delegates may have the privilege of attending the convention, hearing the addresses and participating in the tours of the several institutions of note in Durham with the trip to Chapel Hill to go through the University.

LENIENT WITH INVALID.

Number Pay Costs in Trivial Cases Before Recorder Yesterday.

There was a large number of offenders convicted on petty offenses yesterday before Recorder Empie. Probably the most interesting was that of John Phillips, colored, who was convicted of a considerable amount of disorderly conduct. The Recorder first sentenced him for 60 days on the roads, but after considering the fact that Phillips is an invalid and that he might be the cause of more diseased convicts, if put among them, it was decided to let him off with $5 and costs.

Lewis Graham, Ed Austin and John Nichols, all colored, paid costs for violating the traffic ordinances.

Robert Barnhill, colored, was convicted of vagrancy. Not wishing to induce such people to live in the community, by giving him a job on the roads, Recorder Empie informed him that it would be necessary for him to vacate the county before November 5th to avoid punishment.

Robert Moore, colored, paid costs for beating a negro woman.

John Singletary, an eight-year-old negro boy, was accused of hitting Louise Whitehead, a negro girl, while throwing rocks at Howard Smith, another negro boy. The girl was reported to [illegible] dangerously hurt and the case against Singletary will get another hearing next Saturday.

Funeral of Young Son.

The funeral of Charles Worth Rivenbark, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rivenbark, whose death occurred Monday morning, was conducted from the residence, No. 506 Wooster street, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. T. G. Vickers, pastor of Madison Street Methodist church. The services were attended by many friends. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery.

THEATRICAL

Today is really bargain day at the Bijou. Owing to the fact that the 13th chapter of the "Diamond from the Sky" did not show up last Wednesday, the booking for last week was cancelled, and for today there will be presented both the 13th and 14th chapters, something that you have never had the opportunity of seeing in one day before—two chapters, four reels—of a serial at one and the same time.

The 13th and 14th chapters are both jammed to the full with exciting situations and great spectacular scenes, in fact, they are both termed as "feature chapters" by the makers, the chapters upon which depend a good bit of the plot of the future part of the story. So if you have been following this great serial, don't fail to see this great four-reel installment—you won't have to stop and guess a week after the first episode is over—just sit still and see it told in the next two reels.

A great Joker comedy "A Millionaire for a Minute," is also on today's great bargain-day bill, and introduces those old favorites, Max Asher and Gail Henry in one of their most laughable comedies.

Remember tomorrow, a howling two-reel L-Ko scream, "Under New Management," and the next to the final chapter of "The Romance of Elaine."

Big Feature at Royal.

One of the biggest pieces of human interest pictures ever produced is embodied in today's big feature at the Royal, Metro Picture Corporation's exquisite filmization of Frank L. Packard's famous novel, "Greater Love Hath No Man." After no little difficulty, that noted exponent of the serious drama, Emmet Corrigan, was persuaded to play the leading role in this great production, and this fact enhances its value ten-fold over any other leading man that could possibly have been selected.

"Greater Love Hath No Man," is a thrilling and intense five-act drama calling for a great amount of emotional acting, and in this sphere of the drama no man on the American stage excells Emmett Corrigan in ability. His remarkable performance in the star part of "The Deep Purple," and his powerful and impressive efforts in "Other People's Money," and dozens of other Broadway successes stamped him as one of the leading, if not the foremost American dramatic actor.

"Greater Love Hath No Man," is a vivid and strong story of a magnificent sacrifice (from which it gets its name) and in this vehicle Mr. Corrigan has the support of one of the greatest all-star casts ever seen in a picture.

Broadway Favorites—Grand Today

Vivian Wessell, the charming actress who scored so tremendous a success in "The Only Girl," at the Thirty-ninth Street and Lyric theatres, New York City, last season, portrays the title role in Kalem's remarkable three-act production, a "Broadway Favorites" feature at the Grand today.

Miss Wessell is just as capable a danseuse as she is an actress and her dancing proved on the most popular features of Victor Herbert's operetta. She shows her exquisite grace in the big scenes of The Dancing Doll." Howard Irving Young is the author of this three-reel drama. Dr. Latham, a demented scientist who believes that life can be artificially created in an inanimated object, is killed while conducting an experiment. His nephew, Felix, a skilful wood-carver, supports himself by selling wooden dolls to the guests at a nearby summer resort. The cast includes Wayne Nunn, E. T. Roseman, and George Moss.

The popular Hearst-Selig weekly will also be on the programme illustrating all the current events. Shee the trained citizen soldiers. It's the world before your eyes. And the admission is only five cents.

"Chimes of Normandy" Tonight.

The Manhattan Opera Company will open the third day's engagement today at the Academy of Music by presenting the comic opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," at both the matinee and night performances. In the opera Mr. Loughran will be seen in the difficult role of Gaspard, Mr. Vaughn as the Marquis, Mr. Kock as Grenecheux, Mr. Addie as the Boilli, while the roles of Supolette and Germaine will be played by Miss Gertrude Hutchinson and Miss Bertha Holly. There are many musical gems that will be carefully rendered by the company. The matinee performance will start promptly at 3:30. The prices will be 10 cents for children, and 20 and 30 cents for adults. The night prices will be 20, 30 and 50 cents. Tickets are now on sale at Plummer's.

There was a large attendance at the Academy last night to hear "Mikado," and it was agreed that this is the best line-up of voices that has been heard here this season, with the exception of the National Grand Opera Company. Mr. Gus Vaughn, as "Pooh Bah", was decidedly the most interesting actor, and got off his jokes in grand style. Mr. Loughran played "Mikado of Japan."

The carrier boys of The Morning Star will be guests of Manager Geo. W. Barley at the matinee performance today.

HARRISS' COURT BUSY.

Two Negroes Bound Over to Superior Court—Other Cases Today.

Justice George Harriss had a busy day yesterday. John Jones, alias "Kid" and Ed Southerland, were given a hearing on a charge of stealing silks from J. H. Rehder Company, on North Fourth street. Examination was waived and they were sent over to Superior Court in default of $200 bond. John Wilkerson, charged with helping them in the crime, was found not guilty and discharged. Justice Harriss stated last night, that Jones and Southerland admitted that they were guilty of breaking into the store of Mr. John Biddle, at Federal Point, some time ago. Justice Harriss said that he recognized Southerland as the same man who was convicted here 13 years ago for breaking into Moore's drug store, and that he served a term in prison, his name then being Bertram Lennon.

Bertha Grady, Lillie Johnson, Ellen Simon, Bell Burgwyn and Joe Wilson, all colored, were charged with receiving stolen goods, but the cases were nol prossed and they will be used as witnesses against Jones and Southerland.

Addie Simmon, colored, was charged with larceny, but the case was dismissed. W. H. Mills, alias "String Beans", colored, was arrested on a charge of larceny late yesterday by County Officer H. Mack Godwin, and will get a hearing this morning.

George Pigford and Nathan Beauford, both colored, were arrested yesterday by County Officer H. Mack Godwin, on a charge of stealing logs from the Chadbourn Lumber Company, whose plant is at the foot of Queen street. They will get a hearing today before Justice Harriss.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT GIVEN BY OXFORD CHILDREN HERE

Large Crowd Entertained With Songs and Recitations Last Night.

The class from the Oxford Orphanage composed of ten girls and four boys gave a most enjoyable concert at the Masonic Temple last night. There was a large and appreciative audience and each number was enthusiastcally applauded. The class is in charge of Mr. L. W. Alderman, who is a most capable man for the position, and Miss Myrtle Branch, a sister of Mr. Howard B. Branch, of this cty. The class goes to Burgaw to give a concert tonght.

One of the members of the class is from Wimington, this being Miss Edna Smith. The other members are: Ella Coker, Lucile Hooper, Blanche Holoman, Essie Hunnicutt, Sallie Minshew, Arminda Patterson, Myrtle Robinson, Bessie Smith, Fay Shelton, Johnson Bailey, Lyman DeFord, Charleton Jernigan and Gibson McKenzie.

The exercises were opened last night with prayer by Rev. J. S. Crowley, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian church. There was a pleasing programme of choruses, solos, duets, recitations and songs. The children showed that they had received the most careful training and acquitted themselves most creditably.

Mr. A. G. Hill Bereaved.

Friends will tenderly sympathize with Mr. A. G. Hill, the populth postoffice clerk, who lives at No. 108 North Ninth street, in the death of his brother, Mr. Edward Hill, of Hendersonville, N. C., which occurred there last Thursday. Mr. Hill has just returned to the city after attending the funeral.

Boy Lost from Home.

Mr. Sellers, who lives at No. 619 South Front street, reported last night that his 15-year-old imbecile boy was lost from home. The boy cannot talk and is unable to ask friends to help him, and if he forgets the way back he will have to be assisted. The police have been informed and any information will be appreciated.

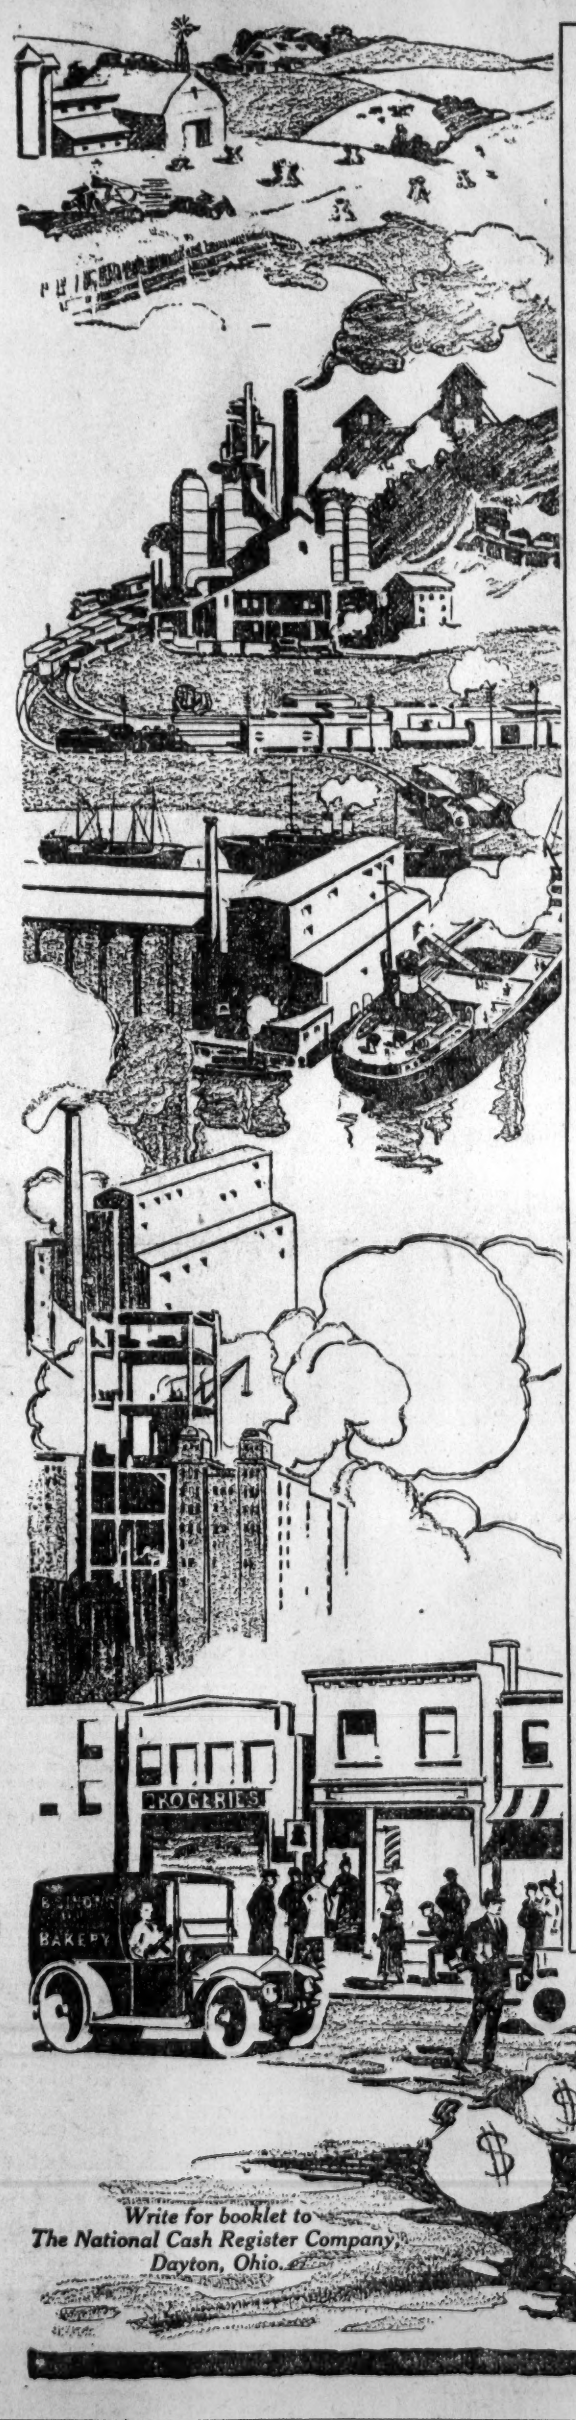
Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 2. — The University of Tennessee has cancelled its game with the Univershty of South Carolina, scheduled for next Saturday because of the serous condtion of Half Back Jared, injured in Saturday's game with Vanderbilt.

Magical Effect of New Face Peeler

To maintain a clear, rosy, youthful complexion, there's nothing so simple to use and yet so effective as ordinary mercolized wax, which you can get at any drugstore in the original package. Just apply the wax at night as you would cold cream; in the morning wash it off with warm water. If you've never tried it you can't imagine the magical effect of this harmless home treatment. The wax causes the worn-out scarf skin to come off in minute particles, a little at a time, and soon you have entirely shed the offensive cuticle. The fresh young underskin now in evidence is so healthy and girlish looking, so free from any appearance of artificiality, you wish you had heard of this marvelous complexion-renewing secret long ago.

To get rid of your wrinkles, here's a formula that is wonderfully effective: 1 oz. powdered saxolite, dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you will be simply astonished at the results, even after the first trial.

Business is booming!



Dayton, Ohio.

Merchants everywhere tell our 800 salesmen that business is booming.

Farmers have had two record crops, at big prices, with big demand at home and abroad.

Stocks of manufactured material are short, and labor is in great demand.

Exports largely exceed imports.

Factories are busy, many working overtime.

More freight cars are needed, and steamers are taxed to capacity.

People are living better, and spending their money more freely.

This country has the best money in the world, and more of it than ever before.

Such a combination of favorable circumstances never has occurred before, and probably will never occur again.

Billions of dollars are passing over the merchants' counters.

The people who spend this money want the best service.

They demand it in all kinds of stores, from the smallest to the largest.

They get it in stores which use our up-to-date Cash Registers, which quicken service, stop mistakes, satisfy customers, and increase profits.

Over a million merchants have proved our Cash Registers to be a business necessity.

NEAR-RIOT AT PINK HILL.

Two Negroes Shot, One Dangerously; Ten Others Locked Up.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 2.—Durham Potter, a Pink Hill deputy sheriff, arrived at the sheriff's office here yesterday with Lewis Morgan, a mulatto, handcuffed, and a story of the first near-riot in months in the lumber camps south of here, which were thought to have been thoroughly reformed. Potter said Howard Peterson, colored, was lying on a Carolina railroad car dangerously shot and that a physician should be sent to him; that James Higgins, another negro, also shot in one arm and side, was at large and should be apprehended, and that nine other darkies were locked up at Pink Hill. Trouble broke out and continued for some hours between Morgan and Higgins and Peterson.

Following the several mix-ups Potter, a nervy individual, raided the neighborhood, rounded up nine vagrants and locked them up in a place big enough for only two or three until he could bring Morgan and Peterson here, the former for jail and the latter for medical treatment.

WILSON TOBACCO SALES.

Ten Weeks Record Surpasses Usual Record for Entire Season.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Nov. 2.—Already more leaf tobacco has been sold in Wilson this season—ten weeks of sales days—than was sold any one year prior to 1913 and within 300,000 pounds of the total sales of the year 1913.

President R. P. Watson gave out this morning the official figures for the month of October and the season to November 1. In October this market sold 10,525,129 pounds of tobacco at an average price of $12.24 the hundred pounds. Since the opening of the season the total receipts reached 20,500,520 pounds—520 pounds more than the estimate made in this correspondence. In ten weeks the tobacco buyers have paid to the farmers for leaf tobacco $2,259,192.92, or an average of $11.02 the hundred pounds. In October alone $1,289,225.89 was paid out for the leaf. The total receipts for the season of 1914 reached 30,954,920 pounds and for this leaf the farmers received $4,101,382.20, or an average of $13.25 the hundred pounds.

Fashion Permits Hips

Coats Flare Smartly from Waistline to Knee; but Ankles Must be Revealed

Hoops are Resorted to to Give the Proper Effect

The Bustle Breaks the Severe Line of a Straight Back

Short Skirt, Close Bodice, Slender Arms; and Milady Casts the Proper Shadow

Woman Now Tapers Upward, Not Downward—Bustles, Hoop-Skirts and Actual Wings Over the Hips Make Skirts Flare in Varied Effects.

CONTEMPLATING the billowing bouffancy of costumes at all the openings, these days, one remembers whimsically, the burning question which absorbed the mind of woman through seasons and seasons, but recently: "Are skirts going to be wider?" All things come to her who waits, and now the individual who pined for petticoats, may revel in them to heart's content. Skirts are certainly wider and it is likely that they will grow wider, and still wider; for the passion for billowiness has consumed the style-makers and every new frock put forth seems to acquire a few more yards of fabric.

The next query, undoubtedly will be: Are skirts going to be longer? But that contingency need not be anticipated while skirts are still wide; for width and length do not harmonize, according to artistic standards—where costume is concerned.

That woman's silhouette has changed absolutely in the last year is a fact not to be denied. Not only have skirts changed, but everything has changed and the shadow femininity casts is reversed. Not long ago it was the shadow of a peg tapering toward the lowest point; now it is a peg upside down, revolving on its head instead of its tip. All lines flow outward from head to feet whereas only a few seasons ago they tapered downward.

In order to give full emphasis to the new silhouette fashion has concentrated upon the skirt. It is looped, puffed, rippled, gathered, pleated, flounced, adorned with bowknots and flower festoons and loaded to the last safety point of its carrying efficiency with trimming; the bodice is almost neglected. It matters little what sort of bodice one has (provided the sleeves are long) if one's skirt is voluminous enough to be impressive and individual enough to strike a new note of modishness. Frocks with skirts of overpowering elaboration show little surplice bodices of the simplest type—just two bits of fabric crossed over the bust, a tucker or a chemisette filling in the V in front, and close sleeves to the wrist. This apparent neglect of the bodice is a feature of smartness in this year's fashions; a coral velvet dance frock just out of the hands of Beer, has a skirt measuring six yards around the ankle with plentiful gathers at the waist and two over-hanging tabliers edged with gold lace. The bodice is as simple as a camisole—simpler, for it is minus even lace trimming. Two strips of the brilliant coral velvet are crossed at front and back in surplice effect. The edge of the velvet makes a deep V decolletage at front and at back, and the outer edges of the strips fall just over the shoulder, leaving the arm quite bare. These untrimmed strips of velvet are faced with coral colored satin and when the arm is raised one notes that there is an under-bodice faced up to the armpit with velvet. A golden rose is tucked at the girdle.

A Circular Cut of Coat Skirt and Sleeve Gives the Correct, Flowing Line, with Downward Flare

Wings Now Located At The Hips.

Man has likened woman to an angel, and this year the angel has sprouted wings; but they grow in a queer place—at the hips. Paddle-shaped attachments of capenet boned or wired around the blade-edge, are attached at either side of the waistline, supporting looped up skirt drapery and when skillfully arranged these outspread wings—one dislikes to call them paddle wheels, though the similarity between femininity and ferry boat does suggest itself—give the wearer an airy, daintily poised appearance that is rather captivating. One of the new wing frocks is pictured today—a dancing frock of cream lace, pink satin and rich brocade in Nattier blue, rose and wisteria shadings. The wing attachments at the sides are plainly apparent in the picture. In this instance they are of wired capenet covered over with the brocade and ruffles of the cream lace hang from the edge over a gathered tunic of the brocade. The underskirt is of pink satin and is outrageously short when one considers where it actually stops, the flounce of cream lace below permitting very frank glimpses of pink silk hosiery. But this manner of eking out the dance skirt with transparent fabric is a feature of the season and so many frocks of this alarming brevity are observed that doubtless the style will be soon as matter of fact as that of bathing dresses, over which nobody makes any to-do nowadays. The wing attachments of this frock are added separately, over the skirt, but in many cases, particularly when the skirt is of tulle or lace, the wired wings are set on underneath, and the airy fabric is puffed and draped over them.

A conservative expression of the new silhouette is illustrated in the afternoon frock which claims black velvet, black lace, black tulle and jet for its component parts. These airy black and white frocks are extremely fashionable now and every well supplied wardrobe includes a costume of this sort. The model pictured, a Jenny creation by the way, shows the longer skirt that Jenny is advocating, though to be sure the length is only suggested, a short underskirt of satin showing through tulle. This underskirt and the bodice part way up—are of white satin, the top of the bodice being of white net. Outer skirt and bodice are of black tulle, strips of black lace alternating with a wide band of black velvet on the skirt. The panels of black velvet cross this skirt trimming, but the panels are stitched down on the tulle, really forming part of the skirt itself. There are four of them, two in front and two at the back. The bodice has two trimming-straps of velvet supporting jet banding; and these strips pass over the shoulder from back to front of the jet girdle. The jet banding is of black gauze embroidered with tiny beads and a bit of it has been set in at the top of the skirt, over the gathered tulle to lengthen the waistline. Under the tulle bodice, above the jet girdle, is the one touch of color in the costume—a strip of wide ribbon in pastel Roman stripes, black-edged at the top. The tulle sleeves are given a pretty finish at the wrist by velvet cordings which curve upward around a slash. Part of the smartness of this costume is due to the stunning black velvet hat, topped with ostrich plumes and a cross ostrich aigrette.

The Bustle Grows More Obvious.

Last spring one or two couturiers tried to launch the bustle and there are signs which point to its establishment in favor for the winter season. One of these signs is the very authoritative little tailleur of Arnold, pictured today. The coat of this costume is quaintly reminiscent of the seventies, with its curved back, fitted waistline and godet flare over the hips. The tailleur is of faille silk in a new marine blue shade, with black velvet buttons and a collar of beaver fur. The bell sleeves, button-trimmed, are characteristic of the reincarnated style, and the tall-crowned hat carries out the idea, also.

Much more conservative in style, yet also reminiscent of earlier times—about the middle eighties—is a tailleur of black velvet striped daintily in white. White velvet striped with black in more definite design is used for trimming on collar, rever and cuff, and there is also a muffler collar of gray fox which may be snapped closely about the throat the revers lapping over each other to form a high neck-fastening. These revers and the cuffs on the bell sleeves are faced with leaf green velvet. Variety is achieved by placing the material cross-wise in the coat-peplum, and by trimming peplum and skirt with bias bands of the striped velvet; the bias striping in each case running a different way. With this costume is worn one of the high-crowned sailors of black beaver trimmed with folded bands of black and green ribbon and a long pale tan plume, put on in the dashing "Lady Gay Spanker" style.

Milady Muffled In Her New Coat.

Russian ideas predominate in new coats for wear over dressy frocks. Necks are swathed high in new muffler collars of fur and fur is added generously at cuff and coat border. A stunning coat of seal brown satin, trimmed with Hudson seal is typical of the exclusive style in afternoon wraps just now. The upper part of this coat is simple and close-fitting—though not tight by any means; and the wide, gathered skirt portion is set on with a tiny cording at the natural waistline. There is much fullness at the back, hanging from the shoulder and the edge of the garment falls short of the skirt edge by several inches. These voluminous, fur trimmed coats, short enough to show the feet, are coquettish and youthful and have a most dashing swing. The model pictured expresses the new silhouette perfectly, and its width of skirt and shortness, over the frock, are features of its correct style. Notable is the ornament of fastening at the waistline made of dull silver rings and braid straps. The rings slip over elongated silver buttons on the coat.

Dressing the Hair With Individuality

IT IS a wise woman, who knowing her own particular style of hairdressing—and adhering to it—makes those slight concessions to changing fashions which keep her from looking antiquated. Nothing is so fatal as a coiffure completely out-of-date and the trouble is that women past youth, perhaps from a desire to avoid effort, perhaps from lack of courage to try new modes, go on year after year doing their hair the same way, even when in their gowns, millinery and other details of dress current fashions are followed.

So long as prevailing lines are adhered to and the effect over forehead and ears is modish, a woman's back hair may be arranged as it pleases her and as best suits her individual style. She may wear a Greek knot at the crown of her head; or a Madonna coil below the crown; or may pile her tresses high to make a background for her face; but to be modish in general effect, she must show the contour of her head and she must draw the waves of hair well over forehead, temples and ears.

One of the illustrations shows a modern and fashionable coiffure which is also conservative and most charming in style. The hair is softly waved in front, covering forehead and ears and is drawn close against the head and arranged in a soft, loose knot just above the crown. Two very important points will be noted about this hair dressing—the features that give it modishness and correct lines. First, the drawn-back waves tend downward toward the back and not upward; and second the knot of hair on top is so softly arranged that it blends in with the contour of the whole arrangement and does not stand aggressively out in a decided coil or peak. To make this coiffure the hair must be divided into two sections; the waved front locks first being drawn loosely downward and backward and then rolled into a French twist from the nape up; and the back hair being twisted upward to the crown to make the soft knot. The hair is so beautifully waved that the two sections overlap and mingle with each other without a harsh, separating line anywhere. Indeed, the secret of a successful coiffure is this soft, fluffy quality of the hair, which must be kept in perfect condition since it must rely only upon its own beauty without aid from transformations or hidden cushions, to give the right effect.

The Contour Of The Head Is Revealed Though Forehead, Ears And Temples Are Becomingly Covered.

A more extreme type of coiffure is pictured in the banded style with coils over the ears. This hair dressing is very becoming to the woman with small features and a mignonne face, but it is essentially a coquettish coiffure and will not become any but a pretty wearer. It is an ideal style, when the hair is beginning to turn gray, for the long bands of hair brought around from the back, where gray hairs make their appearance last, cover up the graying front locks, and only fluffy little curls show over forehead and ears.

Banded And Coiled Hair Is Individual And Chic—On The Woman Whose Face Suits This Severe Style.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

COTTON GOES LOWER STILL

Close in New Orleans at a Net Loss of 42 to 45 Points—Heavy Selling Features.

New Orleans, Nov. 2.—Heavy selling featured the cotton market today and at one time forced prices to a net loss of $3.00 a bale. At the lowest the market was steadied by the profit-taking and this caused partial reactions. The close was at a net decline of 42 to 45 points.

Early trading broke the market 35 to 39 points, partly in sympathy with the break in New York yesterday and partly the result of fresh selling inspired by good weather and rumors that a local authority would estimate the crop at 13,000,000 bales. The first brea met good buying and the price reacted upward 8 to 12 points. The steadiness did not last long, as offerings were renewed on a larger scale than ever. Around 11.50 for December stop loss orders were uncovered and the prices broke to a level 50 to 64 points under last week's close.

In the afternoon the market had a much better tone and at one time it was almost $1.00 a bale up from the lowest.

Futures closed very steady at a net decline of 42 to 45 points. December closing bid 11.53; January 11.68; March 11.89; May 12.05; July 12.14.

Spot unchanged; sales on the spot 252 bales; to arrive 225 bales; middling 11.75.

M. P. ANNUAL CONFERENCE

To be Held in Greensboro Beginning November 17th.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 2.—The annual conference of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina will be held in Greensboro beginning November 17. It will continue through the following Sunday. This conference ranks third among the 16 conferences of the church in the United States and fourth among conferences of all denominations in this state. There are 63 pastoral charges and 328 churches in the state. There will be about 200 ministers and delegates in attendance upon the sessions. The retitring president of the conference is Rev. C. A. Cecil, who has announced that he will not again accept the place of president. In addition to election of president, the conference will be called upon to elect delegates to the next general conference of the denominaton, which will probably be held in Zainesville, Ohio, next May. North Carolina will send more than 20 delegates to this conference.

ITCHING IRRITATION

Worst Form of Skin Trouble Quickly Relieved by Inexpensive Treatment.

When you suffer with any skin trouble, even though the itching seems unbearable, do not think that it is necessary to use some disgusting, greasy ointment. Try Hokara, a pure and simple cream, that is guaranteed to contain no grease or acids and which is so cleanly that it does not soil the linen.

Its power to instantly relieve any irritation of the skin and make it soft, white and beautiful is almost miraculous.

Not only do minor skin troubles like pimples, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., quickly disappear, but the worst ulcers or cases of salt rheum or eczema are cleansed and healed by this wonderful skin food.

In order that any one may try Hokara at small expense, J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co.'s store is selling a liberal sized jar at 25c, and in addition guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not do all that is claimed for it.

SEIZURE OF HOCKING DEVELOPS NEW ISSUE

Positions of America and Britain Are Wide Apart.

State Department Likely to Demand Surrender of the American Vessel. Resort to Arbitration Probable, It is Thought.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Seizure of the American steamship Hocking by a British cruiser off the Atlantic coast has brought to issue a question on which the position of the United States and the Entente Allies are so far apart that some officials here believe arbitration ultimately will have to be resorted to.

Secretary Lansing cabled Ambassador Page at London today to secure from the British government an explanation of the facts connected with the seizure of the Hocking and the reasons therefor. When this information is forthcoming the State Department probably will immediately demand the ship's surrender. It is expected that following its usual course, the British foreign office will then claim the privilege of sending the Hocking to a prize court and as the United States government usually has consented to await the issue of the regular legal proceedings, it is likely that no objection will be made.

Accepting the statement of the president of the American Transportation Company, owning the Hocking, that the corporation is wholly American and all of its stock American owned, the State Department is expected to base its demand for the surrender of the ship on the general authorization of international law for the sale of a merchant vessel to a neutral, even if the vessel was originally of belligerent ownership, which is not alleged in the case of the Hocking, formerly a Danish ship.

The British contention, it is believed, will be that the American Transportation Company used German money to purchase the ten ships which it operates, and that the real owners of the vessels are Germans.

ing at Lynnhaven Roads theoretically landing 20,000 men with his transports which could have been followed by 100,000 additional troops within four days. He attributed the success of the offensive against the coast to the superiority of his scouts, which he said at all times knew the position of the defensive fleet while the latter's scouts had been destroyed and were unable to locate his units convoying the troops of the advance landing party.

The success of this invasion, he said, emphasized his own previous conviction that our coast was defenseless against the attack of some of the world powers and that the present Atlantic fleet, while of vast strength in itself, was not sufficiently adequate to cope a situation similar to the one confronting it during the war game in which he figured.

USING AMERICAN MILLIONS TO DEVELOP CHILEAN MINES

"Big Business" of United States Make Ventures in South America.

"Big Business" interests of the United States have for some time been making large investments in various Latin American countries particularly in mining enterprises in South America. The huge scale upon which some of these ventures have been projected is brought out in an article in the August number of the bulletin of the Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C., contributed by Mr. John Paul Bushnell, formerly of Washington, but now located at Chuquicamata, Chile.

Among the enterprises enumerated are the Armour packing plants in Argentina; the Dupont nitrate mines in Chile; the Bethlehem Steel Company's immense iron mines near Coquimbo, Chile; the Morgan interests in the Cerro de Pasco Copper Company's mines in Peru; the Braden Copper Company's extensive copper plant at Rancagua, near Santiago, Chile; and last, but perhaps greatest of all, the Guggenheim corporation, known as the Chile Exploration Company, now completing the gigantic copper industry at Chuquicamata, near the town of Calama, on the Antofagasta railway.

The mineral region of Chuquicamata is situated in the barren Chilean "pampa," 150 miles from the port of Antofegasta, at an altitude of 9,500 feet, and 40 miles from the snow-capped peaks of the Andes. The existence of the ore body has long been known, and in fact has been worked on the surface for many generations by natives; also to a small exten by English companies. It is a large body of desseminated ore of considerable length and breadth and of unknown depth. Samples taken at 1,200 feet below the surface show copper in greater quantities than near the surface. The actual superficial area showing copper covers more than 150 acres.

Numerous mining and engineering problems presented themselves, some on account of the character of the ore and others on account of the location. The electrolytic process for obtaining the copper being decided upon a tremendous amount of electrical power was required. Owing to the scarcity of rivers or water from any source in this immediate section, it was found necessary to build a power plant on the coast at Tocopilla and to carry the power of 110,000 volts by a transmission line of 140 miles in length to the mill site at Chuquicamata. Incidentally new types of towers and insulators were devised by the company's experts, who also overcame the problems attendant on the quick temperature rises and the high altitude. Water for general as well as for domestic use was made available by the building of many pipe lines from the mountain streams of the Andes and pumping it long distances to the storage tanks on the property. The waters of these streams, however, are not potable, because of the great amount of nitrate in the soil through which they pass, and consequently the drinking water has to be brought by tank cars from springs at Panirl and Tatio in Bolivia. The mill is three-quarters of a mile from the mine proper and is connected therewith by a railroad of standard guage which uses large locomotives of the latest type, imported from the United States.

WILSON AGAIN RETURNS TO PRINCETON TO VOTE

To Help Restore Jersey Legislature to the Democrats.

Returns to Washington in Evening and Watches Election Returns With Much Interest, Especially Those from Jersey.

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Wilson returned to Washington at 7 o'clock tonight after voting in the New Jersey election at Princeton. He spent the evening receiving returns from contests in his own and other states.

Even before casting his ballot in an effort to restore the New Jersey legislature to the Democratic column, the President had been told by state leaders that the Republicans would retain control.

Tonight Mr. Wilson evinced particular interest in the returns from Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky, where governors were chosen today, and in the woman's suffrage contests in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 2.—For the third time within a few weeks, President Wilson returned home today to vote. He cast his ballot in an effort to help restore the New Jersey legislature to the Democratic column and to elect Democrats to local offices.

The President arrived in Princeton shortly after noon. He was met at the station by a small group of students and professors. In contrast to his last visit here there was no cheering by the students.

The President, with Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his physician, and a guard of secret service men, walked to the polling place in an old fire house. There he shook hands with the election officers, received a ballot and scanned it carefully. Walking into a booth draped with an American flag, he marked the ballot and then dropped it into the box.

After voting the President walked about the Princeton campus, inspecting the Princeton preparatory school and other buildings. He then went back to his private car.

Dogs—Blue and red ribbons.

Any other animals—Blue and red ribbons.

First, second, third, fourth and fifth prizes of $10, $8, $6, $4 and $2 respectively, will be given for the best exhibits of schools, canning clubs or farms.

Township Exhibits—The best exhibit from any township in any county, to be awarded to the man that collects and sends in the exhibit: First $10; second, $5.

County Banner—Awarded to the county having the greatest number of exhibits on display at the Corn Show, —to be contested for each year—that county being the banner county until the banner is won by another county.

The executive committee in charge of the show makes the following suggestions:

"Bring any exhibits you may have that are not listed for a prize; if it is found worthy, you may receive a prize.

"Under no consideration shall more than one prize be awarded to any one exhibit.

"All exhibits, where requested, will be shipped back to the owner after the show at the expense of the owner.

"We are offering these prizes in order to get the best in the counties to show. If you do not bring anything to the Corn Show, no one will believe you have better at home. So do not be heard saying that you have better at home unless you have some of it at the show. It will be a shame on you and not on the Corn Show.

"Friends, the responsibility of successful exhibits rests on you, on you personally. We have confidence in your doing your best."

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AND PROHIBITION BOTH ARE DEFEATED

Alleghany county, especially Pittsburg, apparently gave a majority in favor of the amendment. Other districts, however, reported a two to one vote against it. The suffrage question cannot come before the people again until five years hence, for the state constitution forbids it.

Anti-suffrage leaders in this city claim the suffrage amendment was defeated in Pennsylvania by approximately 250,000. In Philadelphia the majority against it was about 100,000.

The amendment was printed at the bottom of the largest ballot ever used in Pennsylvania and many voters overlooked it.

PROHIS WIN IN VIRGINIA.

Control of Next General Assembly is Assured by Big Majority.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 2. — Results from the election of the entire membership of both branches of the general assembly in Virginia today show that there will be a heavy majority in the senate and house pledged to the enactment of prohibition legislation effective when the state goes dry on November 1, 1916.

Out of the 140 members of both branches, the Republicans and Independents will not number more than 20. The dominant Democratic faction will control the joint Democratic caucus by an overwhelming majority.

HOW BOSTON VOTED.

Returns From Precincts Yesterday, Compared With 1914.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2. — Unofficial returns from 231 precincts out of 225 in the city of Boston give for governor, Clark (Progressive), 817; McCall (Republican), 31,691; Shaw (Prohibition), 2,164; Walsh (Democrat), 53,565. For lieutenant governor: Barry (Democrat), 48,822; Coolidge (Republican), 33,856.

The same precincts in 1914 gave for Governor:

STANLEY LEADING BY 13,000.

But Number of Republican Strongholds Are Yet to Report.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 2. — With both Democrats and Republicans claiming victory by from 10,000 to 15,000 votes, unofficial returns late tonight showed former Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, Democrat, and Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset, Republican, running a close race for governor.

Partial returns from 92 counties of the 119 in the state showed Mr. Stanley leading by approximately 13,000 votes, with a number of Republican strongholds yet to report. The vote was: Stanley, 113,075; Morrow, 99,749.

The Republican vote throughout the State showed appreciable gains over that cast in the last gubernatorial election, with the Democratic vote falling off. The Progressive vote was negligible.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN MARYLAND.

Harrington's Majority About 5,000 to 7,000 It is Estimated.

Baltimore, Nov. 2.—Meagre returns from today's election indicated at midnight the election of Emerson C. Harrington, Democrat, as governor, over O. E. Weller, Republican, by a majority of from 5,000 to 7,000. However, only 40 out of 316 precincts in Baltimore city had made returns at that hour. They gave Harrington 5,512; Weller 4,646.

Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, for attorney general, ran far ahead of the ticket in Baltimore city, and indications were that Hugh A. McMullen, Democrat, had been elected state comptroller. The legislature probably will be safely Democratic.

"WET" MAJORITY MAY BE 40,000.

Ohio Rejects State-Wide Prohibition Second Time in Two Years.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—For the second time in two years, Ohio voters today rejected a state-wide prohibition amendment to the constitution. Estimates based on partial returns received up to midnight show that the proposal was defeated by a majority which may reach 40,000. Last year's majority against prohibtion was 84,000.

There was considerable uncertainty as to the fate of the constitutional amendment which would prevent for six years a vote on a constitutional proposal which has been twice defeated. Late returns, however, indicated that the proposal was rejected.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

YOU ARE BURNING MONEY

when you buy a coal that burns riotously like shavings, wasting its heat far up the chimney in long flame, dense smoke and troublesome soot, and is quickly reduced to ashes.

Clinchfield Domestic Coal burns like a hickory back-log, giving a short flame and a bed of intensly hot coals of wonderful lasting quality that radiate their heat into every nook and corner of the room. Hard, clean, lumpy, easily kindled. Holds fire overnight, saving labor and kindling bills. By far the most economical and satisfactory fuel for open grates, stoves and residence furnaces of all types. No trouble from clinkers and choked flues.

Clip this ad and save it or write today for literature, freight rate and low summer prices on cars of from 30 to 50 tons each direct from the mines.
